FIRE SWEEPS COAL SHEDS

Bath, Me., June 29.—Fire at the gas plant of the Central Maine Power Co., early today burned a coal shed with 250 tons of soft coal and spread to the adjoining coal plant of Edward W. Larrabee where it destroyed two coal sheds, a stable and a storage house. The loss was estimated at $30,000.

TO THE PUBLIC

A condensed statement of the demands upon which the present strike is based is as follows:

A reduction from 8 to 7 hours' work a day. As recess time of one half hour is given, this would mean only 6½ hours of actual work a day.

A large increase in wages, which, together with the shorter hours, would mean an increase of nearly 50% in operators' wage expense.

We believe these demands are unreasonable and unwarranted for the following reasons:

1. The hours of work are already less than in comparable industries.
2. The present wages are the maximum war-time wages, no reductions having been made as in most other industries.
3. The general satisfaction with our wage and working conditions, as shown by a labor turnover of less than 16% a year, whereas, in general mercantile or manufacturing concerns, a labor turnover ranging from 50% to 100% is considered normal.
4. Long waiting lists of desirable applicants, and these without advertising.
5. Steady employment for 52 weeks in the year.
6. Annual vacations of two weeks with full pay.
7. In large offices lunches provided at cost of food and its preparation, the overhead cost being borne by the Company.
8. A Benefit Plan, provided without cost to employees, under which they are paid for time lost due to illness.
9. Operating rooms, recreation rooms and all other working conditions are of the best.

We believe the wages and working conditions of our employees, when measured by every reasonable standard, are eminently fair and just, and we ask the consideration of the public for any inconvenience which they may temporarily encounter during the steady restoration of service in the relatively small number of exchanges still affected by the strike.

DEMPSEY BOUT LIKELY TO BE PUT OFF

Shelby, Mont., June 29.—Possibility of postponement of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight loomed today, with July 14 or July 21 as the possible dates.

Conference among promoters, bank officials, railroad officials, oil promoters, moneyed ranchers, lawyers, and of course, the fighters and their managers, were being staged at hourly intervals today. It was reported that Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, was agreeable to extending the date another week or so.

"I'll have to talk it over with Tommy," was the reply of Eddie Kane, manager of Gibbons.

Perhaps this day may bring a solution of the mightiest problem which ever confronted this section of Montana, that of raising the 100,000 elusive cash dollars desired by Kearns, and just as likely it may bring nothing but talk.

Collapses Waiting for Car

Mrs. Elizabeth Lawson of No. 663 East Fourth street, South Boston, collapsed at K and East Fourth streets while waiting for a trolley car. Patrolman Grimes of the City Point station assisted her to her home. Her condition is not considered serious.

PLAN JURY SCANDAL ARRESTS

Arrests were expected today in the jury scandal which grew out of the acquittal of Herbert P. Shaughnessy, Edward C. Wallace and Frank Tyner, charged with the robbery in which $22,840 was taken from Peter Gaddis, telephone paymaster, in April last.

While the district attorney's office, police and Pinkerton detectives were pushing a three-ply investigation, new facts in connection with the case came to light:

A member of the jury which acquitted the men was under indictment for theft of an automobile. This fact was not discovered until after he had been made a member of the jury.

A member of the jury was influenced to vote for acquittal by politicians.

NEW HOLDUP PLOT.

Information has been presented to District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien's office that this juror, in conversation on a trolley car, has indicated a prejudgment of the case in favor of the defendants long before the evidence had been concluded.

Another startling disclosure is that a plot has been under way to stage a similar holdup to the robbery of Paymaster Gaddis. This plot was in the making while the trial now finished was making history in Suffolk county jurisprudence.

Information also is in the hands of the authorities that still another hold-up was planned but petered out because a necessary detail was lacking at the last minute.

This intended hold-up was planned at a dinner of "Bandits," at which feast, it is disclosed, arrangements were discussed for "fixing" the jury to try Shaughnessy, Wallace and Tyner.

It is a matter of record that there

ATTORNEY LEVENSON IS FOUND GUILTY

He will be sentenced this afternoon.

WIFE WASN'T WORTH THE $150 BROKER'S FEE, HE DECLARES

Perth Amboy, N. J., June 29.—Alexander Nagy was summoned to court today because he refused to pay $150 for a wife. The plaintiff was Joseph Poross, conductor of a matrimonial agency, who claimed he procured Nagy a real good wife, but never received his $150 fee.

NNagy, after two weeks of married life, said the wife wasn't worth $150 or any other amount. He and his wife have separated. Decision was reserved.

ARLINGTON LOVE DUELIST IN COURT AS MURDERER

Luigi Nigolo, twenty-seven years old, of No. 10 Dudley court, Arlington, was in Woburn Court today charged with the murder of Harry Lancelot, a rival suitor for the affections of sixteen-year-old Mary Martino of No. 6 Dudley court, Arlington.

Nigolo and Lancelot, on June 18, fought a pistol duel in the woods off Washington road, Burlington.

At request of Attorney William R. Scharton, Nigolo's counsel, the case was continued to July 6.

MINERS DEMAND 20 PER CENT. INCREASE IN WAGE SCALE

Scranton, Pa., June 29.—A demand for a 20 per cent. increase in the contract wage scale with an increase of a dollar a day for all men paid by the day was presented to the anthracite miners' convention here today for adoption and submission to the mine owners next week.

The demands drafted by the convention's scale committee follows the general lines formulated in January 1922, and fought for five and a half months last year.

FRENCH ADVANCE 8 MILES TO PENALIZE GERMANS

Coblenz, June 29 (AP)—The French today extended their occupation in the Mayence bridgehead to Langen, on the Darmstadt-Frankfort railroad line, eight miles south of Frankfort and [illegible], on the Frankfort-Kronberg line, 7½ miles northwest of Frankfort. The extension is a penalty for recent sabotage on the railroads.

UNCLAIMED BY RELATIVES, SAVOY BURIED BY HIS PAL

New York, June 29 (I.N.S.)—Unclaimed by relatives in New England, the body of Bert Savoy, vaudeville star of the nationally known team of Savoy and Brennan, was to be buried by Broadway friends this afternoon.

Jay Brennan, who bore a deep affection for his partner, assumed charge of the burial services, which were to be held at Friends Church, on Broadway. Hundreds of actors were expected to attend.

STRIKERS SWARM COURT

Chief Justice Wilfred Bolster of Municipal Court today refused to grant warrants for the arrest of eleven striking telephone operators on charges of inciting to riot.

After lengthy argument presented by Sergeant Archie Campbell of City Hall avenue station, the judge issued warrants charging the girls with obstructing a free foot passage and disturbing the peace.

The strikers were then taken into the second session and arraigned before Judge Parmenter.

Miss Rose Sullivan, an officer of the union, asked for a continuance.

The case was continued until next Tuesday for a hearing.

Fifty operators appeared at the court house from strike headquarters and twenty-six filed into the court chamber.

CLEARS COURT.

There were no seats, so the girls grouped in one corner. Judge Parmenter then ordered all persons standing to be cleared from the room.

The strikers under arrest are:

Gertrude Fidelle, sixteen years old, No. 635 East Sixth street, South Boston. Employed at the Beach exchange.

Mary M. Dwyer, twenty-five years old, No. 332 Sixth street, South Boston. Main exchange.

Marion Murray, twenty-two years old, No. 190 L street, South Boston, Beach exchange.

Ruth Clancy, twenty-two years old, No. 6 Tremont street, Dedham, Main exchange.

Serious Indictment Against Amherst

Albert Parker Fitch, former president of Andover Theological Seminary and for the last six years professor of the history of religion and biblical literature at Amherst; Walton H. Hamilton, professor of economics; Howard E. Hinners, instructor in music; Walter W. Stewart, professor of economics, and Clarence E. Ayres, associate professor of philosophy, are among the last batch of teachers who have resigned from the faculty of Amherst on account of the removal of President Meiklejohn.

We quote part of Dr. Fitch's letter of resignation to the board of trustees:

> I do this with regret. I have spent six of the happiest years of my life in the college under Mr. Meiklejohn's leadership. But I am unable to accept either the decision of the board as to his removal or the manner in which it was accomplished. To do that would seem to be a violation of all the canons of intellectual integrity and moral candor, for which, in the past, Amherst has stood. Nor am I able to associate myself with a new regime in which disinterested teaching and free inquiry would appear to be no longer possible.

Could a more serious indictment be made against an American college dedicated to the teaching of the young of a great alleged democracy than this letter of resignation by Dr. Fitch?

Professor Hamilton writes that he tenders his resignation with deep regret, "for in my eight years here the classroom has been a free and joyous inquiry, but the recent action of the trustees and in the manner in which it was taken seem to make it clear that at Amherst College of the immediate future I cannot engage in disinterested teaching and study."

Mr. Hinners resigns because "Amherst College will not find it possible during the next few years, at least, to continue the liberal policies which it has heretofore pursued."

Let it be remembered that one of the trustees is a partner of J. P. Morgan, who received a degree of LL. D. from Harvard at the same time that President Meiklejohn resigned for daring to allow the students to hear both sides of the great questions in which organized, profiteering, freebooting wealth was interested on one side.

The last few years have been full of conflict between the liberal tendencies of the day in our higher education and the reactionary control by the freebooters of the country. The victories have been all with the freebooters so far.

The answer, of course, is public universities. There is no more reason why we should have private colleges than private grammar and high schools. The same reasons which compelled us to establish public schools as a great instrument of democracy ought to compel us immediately to establish public colleges for higher education. With the complexities of the day we need higher education as much as we needed grammar school education one hundred years ago.

A Big Pearl

And a Surprised Oyster

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

A pearl, breaking the record for size, has been found in Australia. Somebody will pay a fortune for it and pass it on to his wife, saying proudly, "I don't refuse the dear little woman anything," then perhaps start off to amuse himself ELSEWHERE.

Apart from that depressing moral possibility, consider the standpoint of the oyster that contained the pearl. If it hadn't lost its life in losing the pearl it would have paid any reasonable amount, in oyster money, to get rid of it.

The shiny surface on the pearl is deposited by the oyster to keep its tender body from being scratched.

Nothing could surprise the oyster more than to learn that out of the water, on dry land, there live creatures that deliberately fasten pearls onto themselves and believe their importance to be thereby increased.

You couldn't explain that to a pearl, nor could you probably explain to any living human being the conditions under which higher beings exist on other planets and other levels outside our ocean of air.

Quaint Antique Prices

They Depend on the Buyer

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

What is the value of an "antique"? It varies considerably. Mariani, a Paris dealer, bought an old statue of the Virgin and Child from a little church in Paris, supplying a copy to take its place. He paid 2,500 francs. Mariani sold it to Jauers, another Paris dealer, for 8,000 francs. Jauers swears he sold it to a New York dealer, Demotte, for 14,000 francs. Demotte, according to evidence given in Paris, sold it to Mr. Vanderbilt of New York for 400,000 francs.

Mr. Vanderbilt might almost congratulate himself, for at least on that occasion he bought a GENUINE antique. The only trouble was that he will probably have to give it back. The clergyman of the church had no legal or moral right to sell it.

As You Perspire—

Think of the Horses

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

Massachusetts, New York, Ohio and other States have recently suffered intense heat. Many deaths are reported.

You may find comfort in your perspiration in remembering what science has done to relieve the cruel suffering of horses. Many can remember the wretched animals dropping dead in the shafts or in the traces of the street cars in all the big cities. Electricity in the cars and explosive gas engines in the motor trucks have done away with most of that. Science has done more to prevent cruelty to animals than could be done by many "prevention" societies. Cruelty ENDS when it no longer PAYS.

ROYALTY IN THE DRESS TRADE

PARIS, June 28.—In one of Paris' finest apartment houses now converted into American offices, the servants' floor is a busy, bustling place. On one door one reads "Baroness de Grothens, Models."

Here is where the former Princess Nehildoff ekes out an existence, aided by Mademoiselle Narishkine, daughter of the Russian Ambassador. Another door is marked "Lingerie," and the business is managed by the Grand Duchess Marie. The old order changeth. "Dressed like a Princess" today reads "Dressed by a Princess."

Helping the Farmer

Editor Boston American:

How can the farmer put himself in a position to force a profit price? Much is said about surplus and overproduction. There never was such a thing as a permanent surplus of meat, grain, wool and cotton, but if there was, how is the farmer to protect himself against loss prices?

If the farmers use all their capital, equipment and labor to feed and clothe the world, endure extremes in weather and risk frost, flood, drouth and bugs and could only sell half their output, they should have a profit on that half.

A marketing plan should be adopted that would not cause a big crop to be a calamity. It is shocking that a seven billion crop sells for more than a ten billion crop.

Ship Subsidy

Editor Boston American:

In all the discussion pro and con regarding the so-called junket trip of the Leviathan there has never appeared the real object until yesterday, when Conressman James Gallivan said he voted for the ship subsidy bill. That's the answer for this trip. It is a bally-hoo for the ship subsidy bill, to come later. Wait and see. If our Shipping Board wasn't expensive enough for the American people during the war, why go to it and give them some more (subsidy).

Family Needs Food

Editor Helping Hand:

I would like to ask aid for — in Haverhill. Business is very dull, owing to labor troubles, and just at the time when there was work in the shoe shop where he is employed he had to undergo an operation for a carbuncle in his side. He is slender and not at all strong and has had a very bad cough since the early part of last Winter. I have so gladly given myself, but my little mite does not go far to support a family of seven. The boy wears size 2½ shoes and the girl size 3. Their shoes are nearly off their feet. There are five other children, none old enough to work. The father is trying to get work out of town and has a job in view in Biddeford, Me., but the pay will be small. Since writing the above I have heard from the mother, who tells me they have nothing to eat. I gave them my last dollar because the little ones must not go hungry.

MRS. M. E. S.

Offers Three Kittens

Editor Helping Hand:

I have three kittens I would like to find good homes for, as it is impossible for me to keep them. Two are Maltese, with white paws, and one is dark, very pretty.

A. M. S.

Thank you. They will be held for replies.

Girl Needs Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a girl fourteen years old, with no father. I wonder if you have any clothes to fit me, size fourteen or fifteen, or my sister, twelve? I wear size 5 or 5½ shoes. We have no one to support us but my mother, who takes in washing, and the little I can make. I would be grateful for anything.

E. L. N.

Two Good Offers

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you please send me the address of Mrs. C. H., the young mother of eighteen years of age, as I have a number of articles that I think she could use. I also have two other people who are interested in her and have clothing to send. Sickness has prevented me from going out to see P. J. G., but we three are going to do so early next week and will take out some home-cooked food and little dainties for him. Have written to him to that effect. Am glad he has been taken care of in the meantime.

MRS. C. P.

Mrs. C. H.'s address has been sent you. P. J. G. is lucky. He is rather lonely and is very grateful for company, and the home cooking will go straight to his heart. Thank you for both offers.

Ready to Send

Editor Helping Hand:

I have the following list of clothes ready to send parcel post prepaid to some poor family with small children from one to four years old. I would prefer to have them all go to one family.

MRS. J. N. S.

Such a long list we haven't room to publish it. Many thanks. You have been sent the address of Mrs. A. B., who has children of the ages you mention.

To Make Over

Editor Helping Hand:

Should you know of some woman who could wear size 38 or is handy in making over things for a girl of eleven or twelve, I have some things she may have if she will send for them any night before seven o'clock (Roxbury).

H. B.

Thank you. These things will be held for replies.

Suit and Shoes

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a brown wool plaid skirt and a brown wool scottie suit, size 36, and some shoes, size 5½. Would be pleased to give them to some needy person.

L. P.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. G. W. M., who, because of long sickness in the family, is greatly in need of clothing.

Two Skirts

Editor Helping Hand:

I have two black and white dress skirts, not alike, that I would send to some very needy small-waisted woman if she will send address.

MRS. C. A. C.

Thank you. These will be held for replies.

For Week-Ends

Editor Helping Hand:

Could accommodate K. F. and her daughter at least some week-ends if the beach is suitable for her. She could sleep on a screened porch if she likes. A Summer cottage near Quincy.

K. C.

We think K. F. will be very grateful. Her name has been sent you. Thank you.

For Girl of Fourteen

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a few articles of clothing suitable for a girl fourteen or fifteen. These include some sweaters, a silk dress, a wrappy coat of light silk Bolivia and numerous other articles. I have things very often, outgrown clothes of my daughter, and would be glad to find someone who could make use of these things. I also have a heavy overcoat, slightly worn, size about 40, that some man might use for a working overcoat another Winter.

MRS. H. D. W.

Many thanks. You have been sent the address of S. C., who is fourteen years old, and who will be very grateful for the things you mention. The overcoat will be held for replies.

Help for Mrs. A. V.

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me the address of Mrs. A. V., whose letter appeared in last evening's paper. I know just how she feels and can sympathize with her, for I have been in the same boat myself. My baby is now about three years old, and I am getting along pretty well, so it will please me very much to help someone else.

MRS. N. F.

Sympathy counts for a lot when one is unhappy, so I think Mrs. A. V. will be very glad to hear from you. Her address has been sent you. Thank you.

THE ELEVENTH HOUR ALWAYS BELONGS TO DEATH

By Herbert Kaufman

STYLE, which is the historian of vanity, keeps repeating itself. Fashion is always rummaging through grandmother's attic.

Smart specialty shops are now wiring glass kerosene founts—old lamps of all sorts begin to throw new lights.

Science, too, takes counsel with the past.

President Wilbur of Stanford, first head of the American Medical Association to be elected from the Pacific coast, perhaps unconsciously, turns to China for the inspiration of his maiden speech.

Doctors there, you will recall, are hired for lifetime by their patients—but all fees stop during illness. Physicians yonder are engaged to keep clients well. An equivalent system is recommended for America.

Every human machine should be thoroughly overhauled once a year. Coming derangements cast their shadows before. Any disease is easily halted in its primary stages. Tuberculosis, blood infections, diabetes, gallstones—even cancer—are half cured when promptly discovered.

The eleventh hour belongs to death.

Hang Your Head, Democracy!

Every other hospital and gravestone is a monument to delay—so are three penitentiaries out of four.

From time immemorial, wiseacres have contrasted the cost of prevention and remedy, and have warned us to straighten trees in the twig.

Invalids and criminals alike are products of neglect—illness largely a personal misdemeanor and incorrigibility a social felony.

Two hundred and fifty thousand babies are annually buried in the United States without reaching a single birthday.

Secretary Davis, speaking at Mooseheart, announces with proper pride not one of the tiny orphans watchfully reared by the loyal Order of Moose has yet died in the first year, and proves by the record that defectives and juvenile delinquents furnish 80 per cent. of our criminals.

Three hundred thousand of the half million men and women in corrective institutions are there because parents didn't realize or meet their duty.

Hang head, democracy, and admit failure so long as such remediable conditions persist to your abiding shame.

The Game and the Candle

"The Times" prints a dispatch from Paris which delivers the opinion that New York is menaced by over-electrification. Powerful currents promiscuously escaping from industrial motors and lighting plants pass through omnipresent steel structures and set up a process much akin to electrocution.

The human organism, we are told, may not indefinitely resist these ceaseless vibrations. Manhattan's atmosphere is so charged that nerves begin to break and brain cells show signs of disintegration.

Rumor credits the disturbing statement to Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute, a confessed refugee from local din and clamor. Bellevue psychiatrists find no supporting testimony in their experience.

But then, experts and disagreement are synonymous.

It stands to reason that man cannot play Frankenstein and Prometheus without penalty.

The sudden and general employment of world-rocking forces logically requires adjustment and adaption. Environment marks every creature. Evolution is a series of climatic conformations.

Sandstone and chalk cliff trace the alteration of little ooze-dwelling animals to skyscraper builders and microbe hunters.

As the earth's crust cools, terrestrial forms and habits also change.

Folk daring new domains, flying above mountains and draining the heavens of energy, will quite probably suffer a while for temerity.

Each game has its corresponding candle. Progress and enlightenment exact unescapable tolls.

Wanted: A Real Pied Piper

The sun looking down on Chicago finally sees something new. Golfers fly above the Olympia Country Club links and try to drop beribboned balls directly on the greens. Partners on the ground follow through. Good practice for war pilots.

The army's unsuccessful attempt last Winter to blow up the ice-jam above Portchester indicates that few of our birdmen are yet crack shots.

Sol Goldstine, potting rats in the Capitol cellars, has a better eye. Washington's Pied Piper never misses a shot. His nightly average is twenty rodents. The Treasury Building employs weasels for the job.

We haven't done well to date in our battle with vermin. Invent a safe, sure exterminator and grateful nations will celebrate your memory.

It costs nearly as much to feed worms, weevils, moles and field mice as we spend on the general family back and table. The biggest holes in civilization's poke are gnawed by the tiniest of creatures.

They Did Not Die in Vain

Flies buzz above dividend ointments. Existing contracts between the railroads and the Brotherhoods cease on October 1st. Trainmen are now in session at Cleveland to discuss the advisability of wage increases.

United Mine Workers, meeting at Scranton to revise their contracts, unexpectedly find discord in the ranks. Some members would leave well enough alone; radicals want more pay and less day.

The usual flexing of labor muscle as election approaches.

Palm Beach negro convicts, free from the fear of whipping, declare a strike and refuse to work without ice water, whereupon camp guards suspend hot coffee and biscuits and win the round.

Where there's a will there's a right way. Hit a man in the stomach, not on it. Discipline needs no lash.

It never rains but what it pours. Hardly is the wreckage cleared away from the Ocean avenue train jump than a brick wall of a Brooklyn elevated car yard falls and crushes three passers-by. More damage suits.

Hit a corporation often enough in the pocket and watch it put equipment in shape.

Coming efficiencies, urged by economy and compelled through legislation, will attest that the martyrs of railway recklessness did not all die in vain.

Miss Theresa Sullivan, presiding at the mass meeting in Tremont Temple, charged that a telephone call was sent to police headquarters for reserves just as the pickets arrived on the scene and before the slightest sign of disorder.

This assertion brought a chorus of cries of "frameup" from the auditorium.

"The riot existed only in the minds of the excited police," she declared. "One of the 'rioters' was a sixteen-year-old girl weighing 98 pounds, and still this is the type of girl they want to charge with inciting a riot."

Caustic reference was made to "abusive cops," who were spoken of as "the bigger they are the more stupid they are."

DESCRIBES "RIOT."

Mary O'Brien was called from the floor to relate her account of the arrest of the pickets. She said:

"I was walking over Oliver street. A police officer, who was a lieutenant or something, ran around the corner and he shouted to some cops: 'Get these girls.'

"Then I saw the officers push the girls into a doorway and stand around them. I did not see those girls do a single thing out of the way."

Again there were cries of "frame up."

Aaron Bellman, delegate to the Central Labor Union, then assured the strikers of the "full support" of that body.

"If you need any financial assistance we are ready to give it to you at once," he declared.

COMPANY CAIMS.

Company officials, in a statement on conditions said:

"The strike demonstration of yesterday afternoon had no apparent effect in changing the minds of those already at work. The report of force conditions as of 9 o'clock this morning, showed no defections, but, on the contrary, a number of additions to the ranks.

"In several of the exchanges, especially at Main, Beach and Richmond, new operators in large numbers are serving at the switchboard.

"Naturally the service is not up to normal standards, and the public is asked to keep this fact in mind and to be patient with delays in answering calls."

Fearing further disorder, Superintendent of Police Crowley today massed additional officers at the Milk street office, Back Bay and Haymarket exchanges.

Ten extra patrolmen were drafted from the outlying stations for duty at Milk street, making a total of sixteen officers and one sergeant who are guarding against trouble while less than a dozen girl pickets were on duty.

COMPLAINS TO WILSON.

Miss O'Connor declared today she would make formal complaint to Commissioner Wilson against "persecution by the police" and against the "rough handling of officers who arrested the eleven pickets."

Charging that the police were responsible for yesterday's disorder incident to the arresting of the strikers in front of the Milk street building, Miss O'Connor said that black and blue marks on the arms of one of the girls proved the police were unnecessarily rough."

BITTER FEUDS.

A number of the operators remaining at work in Lynn threatened today to go before Judge Reeve in district court to obtain warrants for the arrest of pickets.

The feud between the girls has grown so bitter in half a dozen cities that leaders of both factions admit they fear hostilities.

A number of unions affiliated with the Boston Central Labor Union have scheduled meetings for the purpose of indorsing the strike and voting "full support."

Local 142, Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, the "inside telephone men," numbering 2,000 male employes, whose president, David S. Moreland claimed they were ready to walk out at the word of Miss O'Connor, will hold a special meeting Monday night.

The Bridge Tenders Union have voted to give full financial support to the strikers.

ARREST IN RUSH HOUR.

The arrest of the eleven striking telephone operators, on picket duty at the Milk street exchange, came during the evening rush hour when thousands of office employes filled the streets.

When trouble between strikers and strikebreakers threatened, the seventy-five policemen on duty were unable to cope with the situation, and wired headquarters for help. Fifteen patrolmen were rushed to the scene from Stations 1 and 2, and Captain Hoppe of traffic headquarters sent a detachment of twelve officers.

Before the arrival of the riot squad, eleven strikers had been arrested and rushed to police headquarters in commendeered automobiles.

Patrol wagons arriving too late were hooted and jeered by the throngs of strike sympathizers who jammed the street and blocked almost all traffic.

Persons who witnessed the arrests severely criticized the police for "losing their heads," and went so far as to declare there would have been no near-riot had there been no policemen.

Federal mediators today attempted to settle the strike.

Commissioners Anna Weinstock and James T. Colpois of the United States Department of Labor conferred with Miss Julia S. O'Connor, strike leader.

The government agents were scheduled to consult with telephone company officials afterward.

No one would give any information as to what transpired at the meeting with Miss O'Connor.

Desperate Effort Made to Maintain Brockton Service

A total of twenty experienced operators were at work at the Brockton telephone exchange, four more strikers joining those who left the ranks. The company had 36 student operators at work. There are sixteen traffic men on duty in the Brockton exchange.

The company made a desperate effort to maintain service in Brockton. Ten minutes in many instances were required before a subscriber could get central. Some cases of even longer waits were reported. The Brockton Central Labor Union has endorsed the strike, and the girls took on added courage.

The Stoughton exchange is almost entirely crippled but the other towns in the Brockton district are giving service.

The Stoughton strikers assert they have special grievancies aside from the general wage question. They claim the Stoughton operators are not as well paid as those in nearby exchanges. They also declare they have been deprived of the use of the electric fan and water cooler provided by the company.

Auto Badly Hurts Tot

Jennie Tong, four years old, of No. 63 Beach street, was struck by an automobile at Beach and Oxford streets. She suffered a fractured skull and was removed to the City Hospital. The automobile was operated by Harry Aikens, of No. 1630 Tremont street, Roxbury.

PHONE STRIKE BULLETINS

Pawtucket, June 29.—A group of pickets who surrounded the home of a loyal operator were driven to an adjoining yard by deputy sheriffs. The girls then stood their ground and refused to obey the orders of the deputies to "move on." After an hour the strikers departed. Miss Jesse Lindsay, one of the girls from Valley Exchange, fainted while doing picket duty.

Fitchburg, June 29.—Three officers of the local union of telephone operators here returned to work today. New officers elected were Charlotte Hirst, president, Marion McIntosh, vice-president; May Hanron, financial secretary; May McNally, treasurer; Catherine Wood, recording secretary; Florence O'Neil, and Sarah Hirst, trustees.

The officers who resigned were Mrs. Florence Johnson, vice-president; Miss Elizabeth Farrell, treasurer and Gladys Kinsman, secretary.

Mrs. Mary Wynn, president of the local union, claims service is seriously impaired. She said the strikers are prepared to stay out a year.

The Central Labor Union is backing the strikers.

Worcester, June 29.—The rain today added to the troubles resulting from the telephone strike, as the cals for service were greatly increased and the inexperienced operators found it hard to handle them.

Natick, June 29.—Verbal clashes between the seven regular operators at work and strikers today caused Chief Evans to station a police guard at the exchange doors. A number of student operators are filling the vacancies. Service was somewhat improved over yesterday.

Lawrence, June 29.—One strikebreaker here quit today as a result of being followed to her home by ten pickets. An ad signed by Josephine Durant of No. 249 Jackson street will appear in a Lawrence paper tonight in which she charges she was "misled by the telephone officials" and will not return to work.

Providence, June 29.—Indications are that the telephone company is gaining in the number of recruits to fill the places of the striking telephone operators. The strikers are standing fast. They are unanimous in favor of holding out until their demands are granted.

Springfield, June 29.—Officials of the telephone company reported today that 2,338 calls were handled yesterday as against a normal of 2,800. The company predicted a speedy return to normalcy.

Pawtucket—Manager Cronin of the Telephone Company reports somewhat improved service today. On the forenoon shift he had 26 operators, compared with 23 yesterday. They are doing the work usually done by 37 operators.

OFFICIALS' WIVES VOLUNTEER AID

Mrs. Matt B. Jones, standing, wife of President of the New England Telephone Company, serving food to operators at the exchange in Newton Centre, where her daughter and several Smith College girls are filling the places of striking operators.

SOCIETY GIRLS IN NEWTON ACT AS OPERATORS

The New England Telephone & Telegraph Company is harder hit by the strike than its officials will admit.

This, in substance, was the comment of Miss Julia S. O'Connor, president of the striking operators' union, when she learned the families of telephone company officials, and society women are plugging calls at the deserted switch-boards.

COLLEGE GIRLS AT WORK.

Catherine B. Jones, daughter of President Matt B. Jones of the telephone company, is operating a switchboard in the Centre Newton exchange. Working on either side of her are her Smith College chums, and leaders of Newton society.

Mrs. Jones is supervising the preparation and serving of lunches, while her two sons are driving automobiles filled with strikebreakers to the different exchanges.

Miss Dorothy Hall, daughter of Vice-President E. K. Hall, of the American Bell Telephone Company, is preparing lunches for the operators who remain at the switchboards in Lynn.

Phone Conditions on Fourth Day

Service in Haymarket and Congress exchanges is normal. The efficiency of the Main and Beach exchanges is approximately about 25 per cent. below par. The Back Bay exchange is on about the same level. The Richmond exchange is badly crippled and less than 20 per cent. of the customary number of calls are being handled.

University, Granite, Somerville, Brookline, Jamaica, Parkway and Dorchester exchanges seem to be functioning as usual.

Service in Worcester, Springfield, Framingham, Walpole, Brockton and vicinity is seriously impaired and only emergency calls are being handled.

Don't Cut the Cow
Heaven and Newport
Pigs Promote Morals
Who Shall Rule the Air?

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1923, by Star Company)

THE BRITISH Labor party wants to take a lump sum from every fortune above $25,000 and thus cut down the national debt, taxes on food, the income taxes, and the taxes on amusements.

The bigger the fortune, the bigger the lump that would be chopped out of it.

Such a tax throwing properties and securities on the market suddenly ought to offer fine bargains for purchasers. But it isn't likely that accumulated capital will yield mildly to the "capital levy."

THE BEST way to get milk from a cow is to milk her night and morning, encouraging her to eat grass between times.

The Tartars used to drive their cattle with them and cut a piece out of the animal occasionally. That wasn't good policy.

The best way to deal with capitalists—that is to say, with men able to make money—is to tax their incomes regularly and justly, and between times encourage them to go out and get more. Cutting pieces out of them would discourage capitalists or cows.

A FLYING machine line is opened between New York and Newport. People in a great hurry can get to Newport from New York in eighty minutes.

This reminds you of flying done in heaven. For in heaven, of course, there can't be any real hurry about anything. Having all eternity ahead, time doesn't count. So it is with a majority of those that go to Newport, it really doesn't matter when they get there.

PRESIDENT HARDING, "shooting" a good game of golf with the head of the Latter Day Saints, among the Mormons, learns from local statesmen how marvellously Providence works.

Who would think that a low price for pigs would have its blessed influence on morality?

The President learned that the tendency toward polygamy has been discouraged by the low price of pork. With hogs at four cents "on the hoof," the Mormons feel one wife is about all they can afford.

THE REAL struggle in Europe is between France and England, and both countries recognize it. It is a struggle for supremacy in the air, which means supremacy on the ground as well.

The French, with 100 per cent. lead on the British air fleet, consider themselves invincible. But the English have proved themselves able and willing to spend regardless of cost, and determined to dominate, when it comes to ships. It isn't likely they will change their habits when it comes to fighting ships of the air.

BRITISH LABOR opposes the plan for a great fighting air fleet, saying it is "a preface to a new era of conflict." That is quite possible, but that is better for Britain, including British labor, than an era "of political slavery."

The English workmen can learn from their German brothers that it doesn't pay to be conquered.

RADIUM WILL remove birthmarks, especially the dark red spots that sometimes mark the face. So Dr. Taussing, of the University of California, says.

Some would give a fortune to have a perfectly harmless birthmark removed from a white civilized face. And there are savages that will endure torture to have marks infinitely more ugly tattooed on their lips, cheeks, forehead and breast. Philosophize on that!

SENATOR COUZENS, of Detroit, who got more than thirty million dollars cash in one lump from Henry Ford, and one of the best Mayors that Detroit or any city ever had, is in favor of 5 per cent. beer. From what members of Congress say, he believes the Volstead law will be changed to allow 5 per cent. instead of one-half of 1 per cent. beer.

Mr. Couzens will learn that what Congressmen say to each other is different from what they say with their votes, to be scrutinized by powerful prohibition leaders.

RULERS OF the Anti-Saloon League, conferring at Westerville, Ohio, announce they will spend $2,500,000 on the next election to keep wet candidates out of Congress.

That will discourage Mr. Couzen's hope for 5 per cent. beer, which, says he, is no more intoxicating than tea or coffee.

A campaign fund of $2,500,000 is a good deal stronger than 5 per cent. beer.

DEMAND CLEANUP IN PARKS

Somerville Aldermen Call Conditions "Disgraceful"; Want More Night Police

Conditions in Somerville's public parks were branded as immoral and disgraceful at an all-night meeting of Somerville Aldermen, at which recommendations were adopted requesting Mayor John M. Webster to start an immediate cleanup.

In recommendations of the public safety committee, adopted by the aldermen, the Mayor is asked to—

Have Somerville's public parks more adequately policed at night.

Appoint more traffic police to lessen accidents.

Appoint more motorcycle police.

The meeting did not adjourn until long after midnight. It was given up mostly to discussion of "disgraceful" scenes prevalent in all the parks.

"To describe these immoral conditions as disgraceful is to put it mildly," said Alderman Albert E. Hughes, chairman of the Public Safety Committee. "I have had occasion to pass the Saxon S. Foss park with my family and have blushed as spooners sat in plain view of passersby. It is a disgrace."

"That does not apply to the Foss Park only," said Alderman Thomas D. Mitchell. "There is a park in back of my home where conditions are just as bad." He referred to Prospect Hill park.

"Plain clothesmen," he added, "should be placed in all our parks and kept there until midnight."

BANKER BEATEN UP IN PHONE STRIKE

Worcester, June 29. — Gordon Washburn, young society blood, acting as a strike-breaker in the Mechanics street exchange of the telephone company, with his father, Frederick B. Washburn, president of the Mechanics National Bank, were attacked and severely beaten by male sympathizers of the striking telephone operators shortly after midnight.

The elder Washburn, a millionaire, was knocked down, his nose split and his body and limbs bruised from being tramped on. The younger Washburn was knocked down and pummeled.

With the father and son were Rodney Washburn, a younger member of the family; Daniel A. Wood, son of the head of the Worcester Storage Company, and John A. Denholm, Jr., whose father is vice-president of the Wickwire Spencer Steel Corporation. The two are students.

The attack occurred in front of the telephone exchange. The elder Washburn with his young son, Denholm and Wood, had come to the exchange to escort Gordon Washburn home.

As Gordon appeared after doing an eight-hour trick at a switchboard a mob which had loomed quietly ominous in the offing suddenly moved forward. With a yell the banker and his party were pounced upon and in a jiffy were spilled into the street with blows and kicks.

The banker's eyeglasses were knocked off and broken and he was in a bad way when one of his party yelled "Run" and all scrambled to their feet and departed.

The mob pursued the men through Pleasant street but stopped when shelter was sought in a hotel and police summoned.

A physician was summoned and the battered banker and his party patched up. They then went home in taxicabs.

Police today were making an effort to identify the assailants. Police are positive they were strike sympathizers. It was the first disturbance in the city since the operators walked out four days ago.

23 SHIPLOADS OF ALIENS RACING TO GET INTO THE U. S.

New York, June 29 (I.N.S.)—Twenty-three steamships from European ports, with 15,000 aliens on board, were racing towards New York today to enable the immigrants to enter the United States under the new immigration quota for the fiscal year which goes into effect Sunday.

It is feared the congestion at Ellis Island will be the worst in its history.

Immigration Commissioner Tod ordered every attache at his post Sunday morning to facilitate examination of aliens and expediate the work of entry.

Seventeen liners are due Sunday and six on Monday.

RUM RUNNERS CARRY CHILD ON CAR TO ESCAPE BULLETS

Saranac Lake, N. Y., June 29.—Adirondack rum runners have hit upon a new scheme to evade capture. They carry a child on the rear seat of the booze cars.

Federal officers chasing a big touring car loaded with beer did not dare fire in an effort to halt the fleeing machine because of a little boy riding in the tonneau. They finally captured the machine and arrested the driver.

EMIGRANTS PREFER BOSTON; AND REASONABLE OFFICIALS

London, June 29 (AP).—The Daily Telegraph's Liverpool correspondent says there is a growing tendency among emigrants embarking there to go to Boston rather than to New York, "believing, rightly or wrongly, that the Boston immigration officials are more reasonable than those at New York."

Referring to a suggestion that British steamship lines be encouraged to send their vessels to the United States by way of Halifax so as to remove difficulties at Ellis Island, the Daily Mail says it is understood that "the government would be sympathetic with a such move on the part of the shipping lines as providing a happy solution to more than one vexatious problem between Great Britain and the United States."

SEIZE MAN AS STATE HOUSE SNEAK THIEF

State detectives are combing the State House for sneak thieves.

Following the capture of Amable Treneglia it became known several complaints of thieves having ransacked desks and lockers had been lodged with the State police, who are quartered in the Capitol.

Treneglia, 21 years old, of No. 6 Chardon street, was accused of stealing the vest, containing a gold watch and money, of George Wiley, a State House elevator man, who returned today from vacation.

The vest was hanging in a men's room on the first floor of the east wing when Treneglia entered, wrapped it up and hastened out according to the charge. Wiley chased and caught him in the corridor and held him for the police.

Treneglia is employed by contractors building an arch and passageway in the State House. He was confronted by Miss Alice Donlon of Lynn, secretary to Chief William H. O'Brien of the telephone and telegraph bureau of the State Department of Public Utilities, but she was unable to identify him as the man who this week rifled her desk and made a getaway with a small sum of money. Her office is near the scene of today's alleged theft.

Treneglia denied taking Wiley's vest, watch and money, but State Detective Frank Hale said Wiley caught him with the goods. Treneglia was booked at police headquarters.

LEVENSON IS FOUND GUILTY BY JURY

The Levenson case was an outgrowth of the Supreme Court proceedings which terminated in the removal of Nathan A. Tufts from the position of District Attorney for Middlesex County.

Levenson had been retained in 1920 as counsel for James Hughes and Ernest E. Linear, both of Somerville, who had been arrested for receiving stolen property. His transactions with these men were reviewed at length in the Tufts trial.

The evidence was that Levenson demanded and received a total of $4,500 from Hughes and Linear—$3,800 from Hughes and $700 from Linear—for legal services and restitution to the owners of the stolen property.

The larceny charge was that Levenson, on March 26, 1921, demanded and received $200 from Linear in the course of a conference in the office of the late assistant district attorney Wagner, under false pretenses. It was further charged that he attempted to obtain an additional $140 from both Hughes and Linear.

Irish Furze Gift to City Has Place in Franklin Park

An Irish furze tree, grown in Boston from a tendril plucked in Ireland, near the birthplace of former Mayor Patrick Collins, was presented to Mayor Curley by an admirer. The feathery, odd-looking plant is said to be the first of its kind grown in the United States.

The Mayor turned it over to Park Commissioner Shea.

SALEM COTTON MILLS TO CLOSE TWO WEEKS

Salem, June 29.—The Naumkeag steam cotton mills posted notices today that the plant would shut down for the first two weeks in July for the annual vacation. Agent J. Foster Smith states it is not on account of business depression. The plant has been running to capacity since July 17 last year.

CASH HELD IN JURY 'SCANDAL' INQUIRY

was another indictment in the telephone robbery case, but action is suspended because of the jury scandal investigation.

MANY NEW DISCLOSURES.

Observers of the progress of the recent trial recall observing quickly changing expressions of the three defendants at various times—a shift from an unreserved air of confidence to one of calm, bordering on depression.

There are some who say the defendants were overheard laughing loudly while the jury was deliberating on their case, only to subside suddenly as if cautioned.

Various accounts continue to be disclosed of proceedings in the jury room.

One is that one of the panel, insisting that the defendants were guilty and pointing to the denominations of the money in evidence, was rebuked by another, standing out for acquittal, with the remark: "What is your interest in this case, anyway?"

MONEY IS IMPOUNDED.

Pending the outcome of the scandal inquiry moneys found on the three defendants at the time of their arrest and deposited by them in a Worcester bank were ordered impounded by Jude Lummus of Superior Court, who presided at the trial.

The sum of $5602 was found in Wallace's name in the safety deposit vaults of the Worcester bank, and $169 on his person when arrested. Shaughnessy had $820 in the vaults and $100.67 in his pockets.

It is expected that the telephone company will bring a bill in equity to secure the money. During the trial a bank official testified that the money sent to the bank for the telephone payroll comprised many $20 bills inscribed with the head of a buffalo.

Bills of that description were found in envelopes deposited in the Merchants National Bank of Worcester, where the men acquitted of the robbery deposited large sums of money. Only one-fifth of the issue of $20 bills containing the head of a buffalo was alotted to New England, it was pointed out at the trial.

Christian W. Nelson, a juryman, who is believed to hold the key to the alleged mysterious actions of the jury, declared to a Boston American reporter that he was browbeaten into agreeing to a not guilty verdict.

He also declared that Edward R. Browne, a fellow juror, had confided in him that he had feared to vote as his conscience directed.

"Browne told me," Nelson said, "that he tried to be a good American and see that the ends of justice were not defeated, and was sorry he had not held out for a guilty verdict.

Walter D. Dwelley, foreman of the jury which acquitted the three accused men, denied any irregularities in the reaching of the verdict by the jury.

FOG HOLDS UP 4-DAY FLIGHT

between Coronado and North Island at about 4:40 a. m. today.

It was reported by telephone from Rockwell Field that neither of the aviators had been seriously injured, though the big plane turned completely over in the crash.

According to officers, the aviators were trying to ake as safe landing, a dense fog having made further progress impossible.

The plane had been in the air practically twenty-four hours, having taken off yesterday morning at 4:46:42 o'clock.

Had it remained up until about 4:50 today, it would have passed the duration record of 36 hours, 4 minutes and 31 seconds, held by Lieutenants Kelly and Macready, famous transcontinental pilots.

The first record fell to Captain Smith and Lieutenant Richter shortly after 11 o'clock last night when they passed the 2,500-kilometer mark. In reaching that they beat by a comfortable margin the record held by Lieutenants Kelly and Macready, which was 71.83 miles an hour. Smith and Richter went faster than 85 miles an hour.

Yesterday more than 300 gallons of gasoline, fifty gallons of lubricating oil, five gallons of water and several packages of food were taken aboard from the fuel ship manned by Lieutenant Virgil Hines and Lieutenant Frank Seifert.

These airmen went aloft eight times to refuel and all told made eleven contacts in mid-air.

SO. END RESIDENT INJURED BY AUTO

John W. Hourihan, fifty-two years old, a lodger at No. 48 East Dedham street, South End, was injured when he was knocked down by an automobile on Washington street near his home. The operator of the machine, Joseph B. Dustin, No 64 Myrtle street, Somerville, took the injured man to the City Hospital. He suffered possible internal injuries.

BIG BROKERAGE FIRM IS BARRED

The license of the Boston Brokerage Company, "the firm of a thousand excuses," was revoked by the State Department of Public Utilities today on the ground that it is doing its business in a fraudulent manner.

The firm contracted to sell the stock of six corporations, each of whom paid the firm about $500 for the services of a lawyer, an advertisment writer and for multigraphing stock selling letters. When they complained that not a share of their stock was ever sold, the firm deluged them with all sorts of excuses.

There was too much snow on the ground was one excuse. One of the firm's owners was going to marry into the Slater family and attract new capital, was another. The firm said a fire in their office held them up. One of the corporations wrote back: "We guess that fire has been burning for a month."

The firm was today held to be guilty of working the well-known "expense grab game," the department finding: "The representation that you had a trained organization and 80,000 investors was false and was either intentionally dishonest or due to gross negligence."

A. E. Conte of Watertown is president and Albert J. White of No. 28 Huntington avenue, Boston, is treasurer of the firm.

Worcester Society Folk Work at Switchboards

Worcester, June 29.—Socially prominent men and women are manning the switchboards of local exchanges in place of striking operators.

Among the first to volunteer were Miss Helen Gay, Miss Cornelia Burgess, Mrs. Merton Hazelton, Mrs. Russell Coes and Mrs. George H. Kennedy, Jr.

Reports of "such a lark" are said to have inspired other society girls to go to work and they in turn attracted several of the young men.

A continuance until July 10 was granted in the Concord district court today in the case of John H. Garlick, charged with larceny from the Maynard Trust company. Bonds of $5,000 were continued.

President George H. Creighton of the bank said that Garlick's bond of $10,000 had been paid in full by the concern which had bonded him, and counsel for the bank said it was understood that restitution would be made to cover the remainder of the shortage.

Fitchburg, June 29.—Mrs. Florence P. Little of this city was granted a decree nisi from Carrol P. Little of Leominster when the court was told he had kicked her and cut her jaw for refusing to do his bidding. Little was also ordered to pay his wife $12 a week for the support of her three children.

SECRET RADIO IS SENT BY TYPEWRITER

Berlin, June 29.—Dr. Scherbius, Berlin scientist, has invented a machine which does the ciphering and deciphering automatically by a series of permutations in the alphabet. There is hardly a chance of the same combination being used twice within one man's lifetime, even should he send several messages daily.

The machine resembles an ordinary typewriter, and possesses a sort of switchboard which by one twist substitutes a new combination of letters, while the sender is writing on the normal keyboard.

All the receiver has to do is to fix his switch according to the corresponding keyword, and then copy the message on his machine. The message then comes out in plain language.

The machine was driven by Gene Brennan of No. 100 Windsor avenue, Watertown. Haggerty was a passenger. The milk wagon, which was not damaged, was driven by Robert J. Doherty of No. 9 Pearl street, Medford.

MISS WEINSTOCK HAS ANOTHER STRIKE

Springfield, June 30.—Miss Anna Weinstock, commissioner of conciliation of the Federal Department of Labor, enroute to Boston to attempt to settle the telephone operators' strike, stopped off here to see if she could settle the strike at Asinof & Sons Manufacturing Company, garment makers.

Miss Weinstock said today she did not know how long she would be compelled to remain here before going to Boston, but expected she would arrive in that city by Monday.

LEXINGTON THEFT PROBE BY POLICE

LASTERS VOTE NOT TO RETURN IN BROCKTON

Brockton, June 29.—The Brockton Shoe Manufacturers' Association, in a statement, declared that production was steadily increasing with factories, reported by pickets to have less help, producing more shoes than at any time since the strike was instituted six weeks ago.

"Brockton will hardly open its gates," said the statement, "to any class of speakers or agitators who, coming from distant cities where they have caused untold damage, attempt to preach to the citizens of Brockton the doctrine of revolution, disorder and confiscation. The strike is waning and such methods as these are true evidence of it."

A committee of the Brockton District Shoe Workers' Union waited upon the officials of the L. Q. White Co., of Bridgewater and were told that the company was ready to take back the lasters, a few at a time as they were needed, but only as members of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union.

The strikers were advised that old lasters are returning steadily. After the committee had reported to the main body a vote was taken not to return.

EXPERT GIVES BUDGET FOR FAMILY WITH AUTO OR BUYING HOME

APPORTIONS INCOME OF $4,000

Larger Weekly Pay Envelope Brings New Problems in Thrift and Saving

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE.

Budgets for two families with the same income of $4,000, one saving with the view of buying a home, the other without a goal, are considered today by Miss Sara L. Oller, home economics expert, in the Boston American's series of articles on home economics.

If one must choose between a home and a car, what it costs to maintain an automobile may be allotted to the buying of a home.

Seventy-five dollars a week sounds like a lot of money. Just because it does, it carries with it many more dangers than the income of only $35 a week. When the amount is small the family constantly remembers that it must save. When the weekly pay envelope is a little larger, the wife is tempted to buy irrationally.

This budget is prepared for a $4,000 income. The family owns a car, has not a house.

FAMILY OF FOUR, OWNING CAR, $4,000

Investments—
Life insurance	$150.00
Savings (payment for car; income tax)	230.00	$380.00
Operating—
Rent (about $80 month—steam-heated)	1,000.00
Business carfares	60.00
Upkeep of home (to include gas, electric, telephone, house carfares and laundry)	250.00
Household supplies (repairs and replacements—but no maid service)	50.00	1,360.00
Food—
To include groceries, meats and dairy products	800.00
Husband's noon day lunches while at work (about 50 cents a day)	150.00	950.00
Clothing—
Man	200.00
Wife	300.00
Two children	150.00	650.00
Health—
To include doctor, dentist and other medical needs and charges	60.00	60.00
Advancement—
Newspapers and magazines	25.00
Gifts	75.00
Club dues	50.00
Church and charity	100.00
Books, music, etc.	10.00
Personal expenses	40.00	300.00
Luxuries—
Vacation (to include week-end trips and all-day sails and rides)	100.00
Social pleasures (to include movies and theatres)	50.00
Entertaining	50.00
Candy and smoking	40.00
Other luxuries	60.00	300.00
Totals	$4,000.00	$4,000.00

A cheaper rent might mean more savings for a new home or for investments or for the education of the children when they grow up and are of college age. The greatest "leak" with people on this income seems too much entertaining.

BUYING HOME.

The new budget, as drawn up by this home economic expert, has in view a home or some such goal. The figures will show a decrease in the amount allowed for entertaining, luxuries, clothing for the wife and other incidentals. The rent is less and so is the operating expense. This is done in order to lay aside enough money to enable the purchase of a home in time.

FAMILY BUYING HOME, $4,000.

Investment—
Life insurance	$100.00
Savings (income tax included)	710.00	810.00
Operating expense—
Rent (about $70 a month)	840.00
Business carfares	60.00
Upkeep of home (to include gas, electric, telephone, household carfares, and laundry, but no maid)	250.00
Household supplies to include soaps and cleansing powders, etc)	50.00	1,200.00
Food—
To include groceries, meats and dairy products	750.00
Husband's noon day lunches while at work (about 50 cents a day)	150.00	900.00
Clothing—
Man	200.00
Woman	250.00
Two children	150.00	600.00
Health—
To include docted, dentist, and other medical needs and charges	60.00	60.00
Advancement—
Newspapers and magazines	25.00
Gifts	75.00
Church and charity	75.00
Club dues	50.00
Books, music, etc.	10.00
Personal expenses	30.00	265.00
Luxuries—
Vacation (to include week-end trips, all-day sails and possibly a few days' fishing trip for the man)	100.00
Social pleasures (to include movies and theatres)	50.00
Entertaining	50.00
Candy and smoking	25.00
Other luxuries	40.00	265.00
Totals	$4,000.00	$4,000.00

An addition of a child to either family would only slightly alter the budgets. The operating expenses would be the same.

Tomorrow a budget for the single man away from home, with income of $2,080, is considered.

FISH MEN ON WAY TO PRISON CAMP

ENTERING AUTO AT WHARF

Four Fish Trust prisoners were transferred from Deer Island to Rutland. State police officer with jacket spread open is shown guarding them from cameras of newspapermen photographers.

Brown as berries, from exposure to the harbor sun, four Fish Trust prisoners were brought to Boston from Deer Island and taken to the State prison camp at Rutland.

The transfer means the first move toward parole for the four. Ten remain at Deer Island, two of whom are said to be critically ill.

Those transferred were Herbert Phillips, Alvin G. Baker, Louis B. Goodspeed and Willard R. Cox.

They left the boat only after all other prisoners had been taken ashore and passengers for the return trip had gone aboard. Then they hurried off and entered a waiting automobile.

Shortly before the steamer Michael J. Perkins arrived at the Eastern avenue dock, Alvin G. Baker's huge limousine drove up with three women.

Then another car, belonging to Lincoln H. Young of No. 14½ Fish Pier appeared. In this car the four prisoners were taken to the South Station.

Two State police officers, in plain clothes, shielded the men from the cameras by spreading their jackets wide.

HUB SAVINGS GROW $81,568,000 IN YEAR

Savings deposits increased during May in all federal reserve districts, except in the St. Louis and Minneapolis districts.

PELLETIER ESCAPES DEATH IN AUTO CRASH NEAR ROME

Former District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier, who is touring Europe, narrowly escaped death when his car collided head-on with another car on the outskirts of Rome. He is now in a hospital near Rome. His condition is not regarded as serious.

First news of the accident was received by the former prosecutor's brother, Victor Pelletier, of Nantasket. A letter from the ex-district attorney stated that the accident occurred when a patry comprising Mr. Pelletier, Edward L. Hearn, Knights of Columbus delegate to the Vatican and an Italian merchant named Andrioli, were motoring to the Shrine of Our Lady of Loretta.

MIND A BLANK TWO WEEKS, BAY STATE MAN IS FOUND

Springfield, June 28.—Frank D. Daniels, automobile salesman, the finding of whose effects in a stateroom of the New York steamer Lexington at Providence on June 6 led to the belief he had jumped overboard during the trip, is alive.

Mrs. Daniels said today at her home in Longmeadow that she had heard from her husband, who had suffered from a lapse of memory and had first recovered full consciousness in Indianapolis.

The aberration, Mrs. Daniels said, was due to mastoid trouble. Mr. Daniels did not sail on the Providence boat. He left it in New York and recollected nothing until his memory returned at Indianapolis.

WIFE SUES TO RECOVER HUSBAND'S $100,000 GAMING LOSS

PROVIDENCE GAMBLERS INVOLVED

Anawan House Proprietor Denies Ownership When Games Were Played

Taunton, June 29.—Hearings in the $100,000 gambling suit of Fannie S. Lipson of New Bedford against John F. Hennessey of East Providence to recover under the Massachusetts statutes for losses alleged to have taken place at the Anawan House in Rehoboth opened in Superior Court here before R. P. Coughlin as auditor.

Mrs. Lipson claims that her husband Joseph Lipson, a New Bedford tailor, lost large sums of money playing roulette at the Anawan House in the years 1917 and 1918, and contends the defendant was proprietor of the resort.

Evidence has been introduced at hearings in New Bedford that Mr. Hennessey was seen spinning the roulette wheel at the Anawan House in the years mentioned.

DENY ASSERTION.

The defense denies that Mr. Hennessey was the owner or lessee of the house on the dates the alleged losses took place.

Peter Bagley, since deceased, was then the proprietor of the Anawan House according to various witnesses heard.

Arthur G. Goff of Rehoboth testified that Mr. Bagley took the house over in March, 1917.

Attempts on the part of Attorney Edward Bannon to have Mr. Goff say when Mr. Bagley ceased to pay the rent as proprietor were successfully kept from the record by Attorney H. F. Hathaway, counsel for the defendant.

GOSSELIN ACCUSED.

Joseph I. Gosselin, a Providence taxi operator, testified at the hearing in New Bedford that he saw Mr. Hennessey spinning the roulette wheel at the Anawan House.

Charles C. Crowley of No. 14 Lester street, Providence, a traveling salesman, star witness for the defence, testified that he was in the bar room of the Revere Hotel, Providence, about the time that the famous gambling suit of the State of Rhode Island vs. Connolly was in progress. He overheard Joseph Gosselin, he said, tell Mr. Hennessey that he was mixed up in the mess at East Greenwich and in the Lipson gambling suit because Bannon owed him $1,500 or $1,600 and the only way for him to get his money was to "go through for Bannon."

Edward Bannon, New Bedford attorney, is counsel for the plaintiff in the present case and Crowley refused to change his testimony under a withering cross examination at his hands.

VISITED RESORT.

Crowley also testified to visiting the Anawan House a dozen times in 1917 and never saw Hennessey in the house but saw him once or twice on the veranda or in the yard. He never saw any gambling in the house and knew that Bagley was the proprietor because Bagley told him that he had taken the house over.

The witness denied that he was an intimate friend of either Hennessey or Bagley. He learned Wednesday for the first time that he was to be called as a witness in the case, he said, and had never talked it over with any person.

The hearing was marked by verbal tilts between Attorneys Hathaway and Bannon.

PAID BY BAGLEY.

Arthur C. Goff of Rehoboth, former owner of the Anawan House, testified that Bagley was the proprietor in the years under fire, and Charles E. Smith, town treasurer of Rehoboth, testified that he sold farm produce to Mr. Bagley from March, 1917, until May, 1918, the months when the alleged gambling is said to have taken place.

Mary Stone of Providence, former housekeeper at the resort, testified that she was employed for fourteen months in the years 1917 and 1918 and was paid by Mr. Bagley.

All the witnesses testified that they never saw any gaming at the Anawan House.

CLAD FOR ELECTRIC CHAIR; IS REPRIEVED

Ossining, N. Y., June 29.—Kay Pendleton Smith, Brooklyn wife murderer, paid the death penalty in Sing Sing prison. He went to the chair alone, Frank Pevrola of Yonkers, who also was sentenced to die, having received notice of reprieve after he had been dressed in black ready for his execution.

POWER IS GIVEN PLACE ON CITY LAW STAFF

Lieutenant Hale Power of No. 1246 Commonwealth avenue, Allston, has been appointed an assistant corporation counsel of the city by Mayor Curley.

Lieutenant Power takes the place left vacant by P. Nicholas Petrocelli, who was advanced as the result of the death of Edward T. McGettrick.

Lieutenant Power is the son of Charles O. Power of the Boston American, Mayor Curley's former secretary. He was educated at the Mechanic Arts High School and received his degree at the Boston University Law School in 1916. He was admitted to the bar a year later.

He is a World War veteran and served on the Mexican border as orderly to General E. Leroy Sweetser in 1916. He was with the 101st Infantry from March 1917, serving in France with the regiment. For a time he was an Army Specialist School instructor at Langre, France. He received his commission as 2nd Lieutenatn in September 1918. He was with the army of occupation in Germany, stationed at Coblenz and was discharged from the service on July 19, 1919.

Since that time he has practised law in the office of Joseph Lundy. Attorney Power will take up his duties at once in the office of Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan.

Standard Size for Trunks Planned by Manufacturers

New York, June 29.—Manufacturers of trunks, suitcases and travelling bags are working on plans for standardizing the sizes of their products and definite action is likely to be taken at the National Baggage Manufacturers' Association convention at the Hotel Pennsylvania here August 21 and 22.

The Pullman Company also is back of a movement for the limitation of suit cases to a depth of 9½ inches and a length of 30 inches, in order to permit of their being conveniently stowed under the seats of sleeping car berths.

CARMAN BUYS ONLY ONE SUIT IN 15 YEARS

Two employes of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company testified during the wage arbitration hearing in progress at the State House that they live a life of drudgery and have to wear discarded clothing, because of the meagre salary they receive.

Joseph Glynn, an employe, said that he had bought only one suit of clothes in the last fifteen years and had to wear his brother's cast-off clothing; also that he had to tap his children's shoes, because he could not afford to pay a cobbler.

His one enjoyment throughout each week of the year was 60 cents worth of plug tobacco—that was the extent of expenditures on himself. The rest of his salary, he said, went to his wife for living expenses.

John Kelly, of Haverhill, Mass., testified that he was employed as a watchman at Haverhill and has not had a vacation for fourteen years, and that he has worked seven days a week during that period to get a little extra overtime in his pay envelope.

"I have no fault to find with the company," he said, "but I would like a little more money."

The hearing was resumed this morning, when, it is expected, Attorney Vahey will conclude introducing evidence in behalf of the men.

BOLD FIREMAN SAVES LIVES IN SUBWAY

Fireman John A. Martin of Engine 9 prevented a panic at the Andrew Square Subway station, South Boston, when he threw his coat over a dog's head that had its forefeet caught at the head of the escalator.

Hysterical women were forced past the maddened animal, who snapped and bit them, tearing their clothing to shreds. Starter Michael Dacey stopped the mechanism of the escalator and assisted Martin in freeing the dog.

Several persons were bitten and a panic of frightened women was imminent as the fireman ascended the escalator. With remarkably quick wit he sized up the situation. Whipping off his coat, he leaped at the snapping dog.

Martin held the dog still with his coat over its head. Meanwhile Starter Dacey, who was escorting a drunken man from the station, heard the cries of the women, released the man, rushed to the escalator, shut off switch.

Many women were hysterical as they reached the surface and had to be escorted to the rest room before they could continue to their homes.

Martin said that the only thing that he was worried about was who will pay for his uniform, which was torn to pieces before he could overcome the dog.

Dacey and the police believe the dog had been stolen.

Martin said that when the dog first got caught it was attached to a leash held by a young man, who untied it and fled.

FIREMAN JOHN MARTIN

AGED PRIEST ILL AFTER HEAVY LOSSES

Washington, June 29.—A mass of cancelled checks and notes, stocks and other documents was brought to light here today as the outward evidence of how several men obtained $150,000 in personal and church funds from Monsignor James M. O'Brien, former rector of St. Peter's Catholic church of this city, on stocks regarded as of doubtful value.

Whether there will be prosecution of the men is not determined. Monsignor O'Brien, who is 83 years old, is in a hospital in Baltimore in a state of nervous exhaustion, augmented by a partial paralysis, and his ability to appear as the chief prosecuting witness is problematical.

After Monsignor O'Brien's bank account apparently had been exhausted, he signed about $30,000 in notes, about $13,000 of which have been paid by parishoners of St. Peter's church. The remainder are outstanding and the present holders, who are third parties, now are seeking to recover on them.

When Monsignor O'Brien became convinced that most of the investments he had made were bad, he deeded to the parish land in West Virginia valued at $76,000, the amount of church funds which he apparently has lost in the investments.

OUSTS MOTHER FOR KICKS AT WIFE AS COOK

Worcester, June 29.—Henry Thibodeau's seventy-two-year-old mother did not like his wife's cooking so Henry ordered her to leave his home at No. 164 Canterbury street, it was testified in District Court, where Henry was charged with failing to support his aged parent.

The women quarreled over the younger matron's cooking ability, Henry testified and he said he told his mother that she could find quarters elsewhere if she could not agree with his wife. This took place nearly a year ago. Since then the aged mother has been living with a daughter.

The court continued the case for a month with the understanding that the defendant should have his mother live with him for that time.

"The wife's coking has improved a lot lately," said Henry.

CAR UPSETS WHEN INSECT BITES MAN

Concord, N. H., June 29.—An insect flew into the eye of John Y. Rodd of Penacook as he was driving along Bog road, causing him to lose control of the car, which skidded and turned turtle, pinning him beneath. He escaped with severe bruises. The car was badly damaged.

KILLS SLEEPING BOY BY ACCIDENTAL SHOT

Bristol, N. H., June 29.—Amasiee Gale, adopted son of Aland Gale of Alexandria, was instantly killed in a bed in the bunk house of the General Electric Company by the accidental discharge of the rifle of Dick Hill. Gale was asleep when Hill returned from a hunting trip and placed his gun on the edge of the bed. In some manner it was discharged.

SLASHES AUTOIST WHO "HOGGED" ROAD

Fall River, June 29.—Hugh M. McGettrigan, of South Main street, was badly slashed about the head and neck by a 5-inch knife. Joseph Guerrero, of No. 23 Hancock street, who claimed that McGettrigan "hogged the road" and refused to allow his auto to pass, was fined $200 for slashing him and for carrying a concealed weapon.

1,400 KNIGHTS OF BIRMINGHAM MEET

Nashua, N. H., June 29.—The Knights of Birmingham, 1400 strong, took possession of this city when the fourth annual conclave of the [illegible] Council was held. The feature of the day was a parade, in which 1400 members and candidates were garbed in all kinds of fantastic costumes, with a number of floats.

WORCESTER DRY AGENT COMES TO HUB

Worcester, June 29.—Henry F. Walsh, Worcester's prohibition enforcement agent, is soon to be transferred to Boston, it was learned today. The transfer will be in keeping with the policy of Elmer C. Potter, State prohibition director, not to keep agents in one territory longer than their effectiveness endures. It will also allow Mr. Walsh to be near his home in a Boston suburb.

WARNING
To All Who Are Thirsty!

In an attempt to trade upon the great popularity of "ZA-REX" as the purest, most delicious and convenient of Fruit Drinks, a number of cheap, inferior products—"Fruit Syrups," so called—have been thrown upon the market and are frequently being substituted for genuine "ZA-REX" even when "ZA-REX" is called for by name.

No one who has once tasted the pure, rich, full-fruited flavor of "ZA-REX" will ever be deceived by such substitution, even though the products offered may LOOK like "ZA-REX." But for the protection of those who have yet to try the delightful new "ZA-REX" way of instantly mixing their own refreshing Fruit Beverages, any time, anywhere—HERE ARE SOME FACTS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE:—

Genuine "ZA-REX" is made of NOTHING BUT PURE FRUIT JUICES—combined, uncooked, with pure Cane Sugar! It contains no artificial substitutes or adulterants. Its purity has been certificated by the Priscilla Proving Plant. You get the best there is in the fresh fruits themselves when you buy "ZA-REX." And you get it at the lowest possible price for which an ALL REAL FRUIT Syrup can reasonably be sold.

On the other hand, cheap substitute syrups offered as "Just as Good" or "The Same Thing" as genuine "ZA-REX" contain little or no real fruit juice, but are SYNTHETIC PRODUCTS which, in order to SELL CHEAP at a BIG PROFIT, have been artificially concocted with flavoring extracts, "concentrates" or ethereal oils, and colored with aniline or coal-tar dyes.

SIX Different
Real Fruit
FLAVORS

Punch
Orange
Raspberry
Lemon
Strawberry
Lemon-Lime

Beware of Cheap Synthetic Syrups!

They not only cheat you of a wonderful enjoyment that is yours with "ZA-REX," but ACTUALLY COST YOU MORE THAN GENUINE "ZA-REX!" Because a PINT of genuine "ZA-REX" makes a GALLON of rich, full-bodied zestful Fruit Drinks. And to anywhere near duplicate just the strength of this wonderful "ZA-REX" Gallon would require at least a QUART of synthetic syrup.

So don't be misled by unscrupulous dealers trying to unload cheap, wishy-washy imitations in place of full-fruited "ZA-REX"—or who say these artificial products are made by the makers of "ZA-REX" but bottled or "jugged" under a different name. The makers of "ZA-REX" neither make nor bottle any beverage except "ZA-REX," and "ZA-REX" is sold only under the label shown in this advertisement.

Avoid disappointment! Insure getting the best and most your money can buy in the way of a fruit drink. Always demand "ZA-REX" by name and always look for the "ZA-REX" label.

Positively Refuse Substitutes!

It isn't enough just to look for a "Jug." Buy by the NAME. If the first store you go to doesn't carry genuine "ZA-REX," it will pay you to protect yourself by going next door to the dealer who DOES sell the REAL THING!

BOSTON BEACHES ARE GUARDED FOR ONLY SIX HOURS DAILY

THOUSANDS RISK LIVES DAILY

"Penny Wise, Pound Foolish Policy" Prevents Proper Protection of Public

By HARRY A. BENWELL.

Tenean Beach is the last outpost on the city of Boston's line of municipal beaches.

It serves as an excellent example of the Park Department's "penny wise, and pound foolish" system of withdrawing lifeguards from certain beaches at low water.

Located on a tiny cove, it is half moon in shape, and bounded on the south by Lawley's Shipyards in Neponset, wooden piling from which extends out into the channel.

HALF MILE ELONG.

On the other end the beach runs off into marshes, the bathing section being less than half a mile long. The city has erected a neat concrete bathhouse, amply sufficient to accommodate the many children and their parents who do not don bathing suits at home.

For six hours during the day, three before full tide and three after, the bathhouse is open, and an experienced and capable lifeguard patrols the beach. He spends most of the time in a boat, his keen eyes constantly roving over the hordes of frolicking, splashing youngsters of all ages.

VERY MUCH ON JOB.

As the bathing space is restricted at Tenean, one man has but little difficulty in covering the beach and the present incumbent is very much on the job when on duty.

But three hours after full tide, the guard goes off duty, the bathhouse is locked up and the children, who are called out of the water, are supposed to go home.

Those who live nearby frequently fail to go home, but instead, remain and paddle about in the shallow water.

So long as they stay within a reasonable distance from the shore there is no danger, provided an infant does not fall on its head.

SMALL BOYS VENTURE.

Adventurous small boys, however, are fond of wading out, and it sometimes happens they get in over their heads. This was the case of nine-year-old Allen Greenough, of Dorchester, who was drowned Tuesday. With several boy companions he worked his way out along the Lawley Shipyard's wall, and losing his hold at the end, sank in deep water.

The guard was off duty at the time, and when older boys reached the spot, the child was gone.

Had there been two shifts of lifeguards on duty as there are at L street and Headhouse, City Point, undoubtedly little Allen would have been rescued.

HAS SAME SYSTEM.

Freeport Street Beach, located at the foot of Freeport street, Dorchester, is the next municipal beach to Tenean, going north. It has the same six-hour system, and being even smaller than the other, is amply guarded during those hours by the one lifesaver. At other times it is possible for children to wade out into deep water.

Savin Hill, another six-hour beach, is one of the most popular oustide of L street and Headhouse, and on hot days has from 2,000 to 2,500 bathers in the water. Bounded by a concrete wall on one side, the beach runs in the shape of a half moon for more than a half a mile, and the lifeguard is forced to maintain eternal vigilance on a busy day.

The newest addition to the municipal beaches is Carson Beach, located opposite the junction of the Strandway, South Boston, and Columbia road.

A brick bathhouse, designed to accommodate a large number of bathers, is nearing completion here, and a guard is on duty in a boat for six hours a day.

Bathers Face Peril in Fresh Water

"Mother, may I go out to swim?"
"Yes, yes, my darling daughter.
"But do be careful when you do.
"And don't go near fresh water."

Eliminate the flippancy of the above and consider it in the light of a warning. Fresh water is claiming an amazing number of lives. There are four times as many drownings in fresh water as there are in salt water.

Why?

There are a number of reasons. But first glance at the amazing statistics:

So far this year, and the summer season has just begun, there have been 38 drownings in and about Boston. Thirty of these fatalities occurred in fresh water.

Last year in the same district 269 persons were drowned, 80 per cent. of them in fresh water.

During 1921 301 persons drowned, seventy-five per cent. in fresh water. Every year it is the same thing.

Today the Boston American issues this warnnig:

If your children must bathe or swim have them go to beaches where they will not be alone and where safeguards exist in case they become incapacitated in the water.

Do not allow them to go to creeks, rivers or swimming holes unless you or some adult is there to watch them.

The warning is especially timely, as July is upon us, and July exacts a heavier death toll in drownings than any other month.

Last year 63 persons of the 269 persons drowned in Greater Boston died in July. In 1921 eighty-eight of the 301 fatalities for the year occurred in July.

So beware of fresh water and be careful in July.

Fresh water exacts a staggering death toll for several reasons, according to Captain Jack Wallace, Red Cross swimming instructor, powerful aquatic athlete and an authority on first aid treatment. He says:

"The majority of bathers go to swimming holes and fresh water creeks or lakes because the salt water is not within reach. These places are not protected as are public beaches. More often than not they are treacherous.

"Seldom are expert swimmers present to aid one in distress. Hardly ever is there a person present who understands the art of resuscitation in the event a body is quickly recovered and brought ashore.

MORE LIFEGUARDS AT BEACHES NEEDED

ONE GUARD FOR EACH PLACE

Scene at Tenean Beach, Dorchester (at top) and Savin Hill above. For six hours a day only a single life guard at each beach protects the bathers, most of them women and children.

SPEEDER GAVE WATCH AS SECURITY FOR FINE

York Beach, Me., June 29.—Having but $23 with which to pay a fine of $25 and costs imposed upon him in the police court for reckless driving, Harold E. Bennett of West Somerville, Mass., put up his watch as security for the balance of the fine. He was arrested by State and local police after a seven-mile chase on the State road to Lewiston. The police testified Bennett was driving through the town at a great rate of speed and covering both sides of the road.

BANGS HEAD AGAINST "L" POST TO KILL SELF

After twice attempting suicide at Washington and Circuit streets, Roxbury, Ernest Shultz, twenty-eight years old, married, of No. 1 Lovedeed court, Roxbury, was removed to the City Hospital suffering from a fractured skull. His condition is declared dangerous.

Shultz first tried to end his life by striking his head against an Elevated upright on Washington street. When he found this way ineffective, he threw himself before a surface car near Circuit street. The police picked him up and rushed him to the hospital.

HOOD INCREASES MILK PRICE

H. P. Hood & Sons announce a rise in the price of milk of one-half cent a quart, effective July 1.

"The retail prices of Hood's milk, delivered at the home, will be 14 cents per quart beginning July 1," says the company.

"On April 1, H. P. Hood & Sons was the only large company in Metropolitan Boston to pass along to the consumer the entire amount of a seasonal decrease of 1 cent per quart, made by the producers at that time.

"For this reason the price of milk charged by the Hood Company for the last three months has been 13½ cents, whereas the price of most of its competitors has been 14 cents.

Los Angeles—Mrs. Bessie Harrison Coffey, known on the stage and screen as Bessie Eyton, was granted a divorce from Clark Coffey, whom she charged with non-support.

2 Rival Cannibals Share in Tender Sweetheart

Honolulu, Hawaii, June 29.—As a sweetheart, she wasn't much. She was too expensive. But she was nice and plump and tender. So they ate her. And it all happened in the year 1923.

D. A. Curl of Pasadena, Cal., who spent ten months on scattered South Sea Isles, tells it as it was told to him.

"Two young Fiji men who had been keeping company with a girl got together and talked the situation over. One had spent twenty shillings on her and the other forty. They thought she wasn't worth it.

"So they decided to end the matter by killing and eating her. They bound her to a tree and built a fire.

"'Cut off the piece of flesh you like best,' said one. The other started to do so, but backed out. 'Well, I'll do it,' said the other and cut off her head. Then they roasted the body and feasted upon it in the manner of their ancestors.

"Both were arrested."

WORKMEN'S NEW LAW IN EFFECT

The new workmen's compensation law, providing a "waiting period" of only seven days, went into effect today with the prospect of benefiting injured working men and women to the extent of $200,000 a year.

The law provides that a man or woman injured in industry may obtain compensation beginning on the seventh day of the injury. Under the old law an injured employe was entitled to compensation after ten days.

MEDICOS DECLINE TO ACT ON PROHIBITION

San Francisco, June 29.—The American Medical Association in convention here declined to go on record regarding prohibition. It killed resolutions directed at provisions of the Volstead act. A resolution recommending that pharmacists be permited to sell on prescription, bottles of bonded whiskey in sizes appropriate for medicinal purposes, was approved.

SIX MONTHS TO EQUIP U. S. AIR FORCE

PATRICK WARNS OF DANGER

Says Air Industry of Country Is in Deplorable State Compared With Other Powers

By GEN. M. M. PATRICK.
Chief of the Air Service United States Army.
Written for Cosmopolitan News Service.

Washington, June 29 (I.N.S.) If the United States should be compelled, in an emergency to put an adequate air force in the field at least six months would be required under present conditions to obtain the air planes to equip the service properly.

Such an emergency would be a real thing and the real factor in meeting it would be our ability in making airplanse on short order.

This condition is due mainly to the fact that our airplane industry is in a deplorable condition. Less than one per cent. of the aircraft manufactured in the United States is used for commercial purposes.

We are, then, confronted with the problem of building up a large airplane industry so that manufacturing facilities will be at hand in case of an emergency.

LIBERAL FUNDS.

In 1922 the government of France aided commercial aviation concerns to the amount of $8,200,000; England did the same to the extent of $930,000, while Belgium contributed $198,500. By this means, commercial aviation in those countries has been greatly stimulated.

Great Britain has 600 military airplanes in use, with approximately 30,000 skilled personnel; France has 1,250 such machines, with about 33,000 skilled personnel; Italy has 250 military airplanes in use, with a personnel of 6,000; Japan has 250 military airplanes, with a personnel of 3,000, while Russia, according to our best inforation, is appearing to build 5,000 military airplanes and to increase her air force to 25,000 officers and men.

At present the United States Army air service has a strength of only 9,200 officers and men, and about 450 military airplanes on hand that could be used in time of war.

NEXT WAR IN AIR.

I do not believe it is going too far to say the next great war will be fought largely in the air, and if we are to be prepared to defend this country from attack by a first class power we must give more attention to our aerial defenses.

The figures I have given show the importance which other nations have attached to their air defenses.

What, then, is the solution of this problem? One thing is certain—we must build up an efficient airplane industry. To do this the following are necessary:

First, we must have a national law regulating air traffic. Second, we must have sufficient appropriations from Congress to enable our air services to keep abreast of the progress in military aviation being made by other powers. Third, we must educate the people to the advantages of air travel and air transportation.

VIEW MUST CHANGE

Foreign countries are showing great energy in the development of both commercial and military aeronautics and in those countries people have begun to look on aviation as a practical transportation factor as well as a military one.

In this country aviation is still looked upon as a novelty and an experiment. I am sure this impression will chage in time; but, in the meantime, we are faced with the startling fact that we are every day lagging behind.

France Votes $40,723,000 to Reinforce Air Navy

Paris, June 29 (AP)—The Chamber of Deputies approved an appropriation of 211,000,000 francs ($44,723,000) for aeronautic establishments and material.

Before the vote the Socialist Deputy Mistral called attention to the fact that the appropriation had been raised from 36 millions of francs at the government's last minute demand, and wanted to know if this was in reply to the new British program.

Minister of War Maginot said the change had been made with the consent of the Finance Committee of the Senate.

Deputy Benazet protested any inferences suggestive of France attacking England, and the deputies supported him by applause. He then asserted the increase in the appropriation was due to Germany's activity in aviation.

Tries Suicide

MRS. EVA GRACE ISAACSON.
Because she was scolded by her brother for keeping late hours, Mrs. Eva Isaacson of West Medford drank iodine and is now in City Hospital.

CHIDED WOMAN DRINKS IODINE TO END LIFE

Mrs. Eva Grace Isaacson, twenty-two years old, of No. 12 Harvard avenue, West Medford, drank iodine because she had been chided by her brother for keeping late hours and for her extreme fondness for pretty clothes.

She now lies dying in the City Hospital, moaning, "I want to die, Oh, I cannot stand this life any longer."

According to Mrs. Isaacson's brother, Joseph W. Foote, of the same address, he quarreled with her for staying out all night with a group of friends. He also reprimanded her for spending too much money for clothes.

Harsh words passed between them, he says, which ended in her leaving home in a rage, after threatening to do away with herself. As a result of the quarrel, her mother, Mrs. Joseph W. Foote, is prostrated at her home, suffering from a heart ailment. Because of her serious condition, she has not been informed of her daughter's action.

Mrs. Isaacson told the hospital authorities that when she left her home she went to Boston, where she paced the street trying to steel herself into carrying out her threat of suicide.

HARDING LAUDS U. S. BUSINESS VICTORY

Butte, Mont., June 29 (I.N.S.)—President Harding brought into the Northwest today an optimistic and militant message to American business.

To a great crowd of thousands that packed closely around the rear platform of his train here, he declared the miracle wrought by America's mobilization for war had found its counterpart in the mobilization of business during the menacing depression of two years ago, and going further, he asserted American business now stands only in the doorway of a new era.

DEFENDS ADMINISTRATION.

"No other nation in the world," said the President, "looks out upon so clear a horizon today."

The President's address was devoted entirely to a survey of world business conditions and a militant defense of the business record of the administration and the manner in which it led the country through the great economic depression that followed the war.

Disavowing partisanship in thus presenting the administration's policies, the President attributed the recovery to the plain, old-fashioned commonsense of the American businesman, aided by an administration at Washington that indulged in no fads and fancies of government paternalism.

BETTER AND BETTER.

Comparing conditions here with those in Europe, he said:

"If we are accused of getting nowhere in particular, we may reply at any rate we have been able to stay right here, that we regard it as a good place to stay and that day by day we are getting better and better.

"A good many of the folks have had more excitement than we have had, but a good many people in this world would be glad to exchange their excitement for a modest share in our American accumulation of simple contentment and dinner-table necessities."

Those who believe the business and economic situation in America is bad were invited by Mr. Harding to look upon conditions in other countries. Many of them, he pointed out, indulged in experiments of a radical nature with disastrous results to their currency and credit stability, as well as a harvest of violence and disorder.

"Instead of riots, strikes, sabotage and preachments of revolution," said the president, "we reaped a harvest of understanding of established respect among groups and enhanced regard for each other's viewpoints."

The President painted a gloomy picture of business and economic conditions when his administration assumed the helm in Washington, two years ago.

Washington—E. I. Porterfield, divisional prohibition chief at Toledo, O., today was appointed special assistant prohibition commissioner, with headquarters here.

Beer Barred From Medicine List on Foreign Ships

New York, June 29.—Beer is not medicine, according to the Treasury Department. At least, it isn't on board foreign vessels and cannot be carried as part of their medicine supplies, Dr. E. K. Sprague, senior medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, has been instructed from Washington.

Dr. Sprague, who determines the amount of medicinal liquor needed on foreign ships using this port and who is in charge of issuance of permits, declared he would follow instructions implicitly.

GERMAN TO HEAD X-RAY CLINIC IN U. S.

Erlangen, Bavaria, June 29 (AP).—Dr. Heinz Langer, chief surgeon of the Roentgen section of Erlangen University clinic for women, has accepted an offer to become head of the Roentgen clinic in Pittsburgh, it was announced today. Dr. Langer specializes in combatting cancer with X-rays. The announcement states he will use German apparatus in connection with his lectures in Pittsburgh.

SHIP RUM ISSUE COMPLICATED BY CURZON

Washington, June 29.—Questions arising from the practice of foreign steamships bound for American territorial waters carrying beverage liquor for passengers, or as cargo, were confined within narrower limits today as a result of developments in London and in Washington.

One of the possible solutions was discarded by Marquis Curzon, British Secretary of Foreign Affairs, when he declared there was no chance of Great Britain agreeing to the treaty proposal of the United States for a reciprocal right of search of vessels twelve miles off shore.

Treasury officials said a continuance by foreign steamship companies of bringing beverage liquors into American territorial waters would be dealt with in as vigorous a manner as developments warranted. It was revealed that new regulations covering seizure of liquor-carrying liners in American waters had been drafted in a tentative form. The hope was asserted that such a step would be unnecessary.

Buenos Aires, June 29 (AP).—The executive branch of the government is considering a semi-dry law for Argentina, says La Razon.

The newspaper says it is proposed to establish a progressive tax upon liquors in proportion to their alcoholic content. Thus liquors having a high percentage of alcohol would have to be sold at prices nearly prohibitive to the general public.

Registrar Goodwin Breaks All Records; 4 "One-Armed" Youths Suffer

Frank A. Goodwin, the State Registrar of Motor Vehicles, who smashed all records Tuesday when he suspended ninety-one auto licenses, smashed that record today by taking away the licenses of 127 drivers.

"It is difficult enough in these days to drive with one arm without resorting to that practice," said Mr. Goodwin.

A three-cornered drive has been started against the reckless drivers, Goodwin announced. The local police and State [illegible] have [illegible] with his own department inspectors in this campaign.

THE WAYS OF A HUSBAND—By ANN LISLE

A Splendid Sequel to the Famous Story of Wedded Life, "When a Girl Marries"

HOW THE STORY STARTS

Jim and Anne find happiness again on a honeymoon spent in the apartment of Betty Winston, loaned for the occasion. They go to Dreamwold for a Sunday dinner with Jeanie and are met in the grounds by Rosa, who ignores Anne. Rosa advises the discharge of Mabel Storrs to save the big salary. This Anne resents. Evvy helps Anne arrange her apartments and a dinner is given as a housewarming. Phoebe grows hysterical on receipt of Carlotta's wedding invitation. Betty speaks to Anne about Ralph's fondness for the latter.

"You're the best ever," cried Neal. "You'd stand by no matter what happened."

"I'd stand by no matter what happened," I repeated.

Nothing to Happen

"Well, nothing's going to happen now," smiled Neal. "Let's not be so solemn. Phoebe looked great when you had your five minutes, didn't she?"

"Adorable—and not fragile or breakable or in need of being worried about," I agreed.

"So that's that,' as a certain person I know said," quoted Neal impudently. "By Jove—there's the doorbell. Ralph promised to have supper with me. I didn't know [illegible] have you or I might even have put off Ralph for a twosome with you."

ABOUT YOUR BEAUTY

By Maria Jeritza

A CLEAR, graceful, unbroken line from the tip of the chin to the base of the neck is the line of beauty.

And this lovely line of the neck and chin can be possessed by every woman who is willing to make the effort to carry her chin and neck correctly.

Many persons early in youth begin to develop the unlovely blemish called a "double chin."

There are several reasons for this. One is timidity. Fear makes it almost impossible to carry the neck erect and the chin firm despite any amount of admonition and even exercise.

Here is an exercise designed to improve a double chin, and it will also help you to hold your neck as you should. In fact, the neck and chin are so dependent upon each other—so very closely associated—that what helps one is sure to improve the other.

* * *

Bend your head backward as far as it will go. Then contract the muscles of the front of your neck, making them rigid. With your teeth closed, slowly raise your head to position, still keeping the muscles of your neck tense, the cords drawn.

While you are raising your neck to position, place your hands, with the fingers touching, at the back of your neck and push against them with the back of your neck, keeping your chin, meantime, down and back.

With your hands and chin still in this position, turn your neck as far as you can to the left five times, and back, then to the right five times and back. Rest a few seconds.

Now repeat the whole exercise in this way five times from the beginning.

If you practice this exercise faithfully you will be delighted to see how strong and flexible the muscles of your neck are growing and how rapidly your double chin is melting away, leaving in its place a lovely, graceful contour of both neck and chin.

THE HE MAN

SHE FLEW WITH HIM TO THE JUNGLE

By George Agnew Chamberlain

"WHAT would he give for you?" MacCloster asked, jerking his beard over his shoulder.

"He said he wouldn't give three pounds," answered Andrea in a still, small voice. She began to cry.

MacCloster's eyes grew round with fright. "Oh, come now," he protested. "Here you've been hours without even thinking of that damned old trick. Stop it!" he roared suddenly. "Stop it or I'll mash your head in."

"I wish you would," sobbed Andrea and cried harder than ever.

MacCloster rolled his eyes heavenward as though he implored aid. "Listen," he said, talking into the sky. "Listen and I'll tell you what I'll do. Are you listening?"

"Yes," gasped Andrea.

"Well," said MacCloster, "You've been a lot of trouble to me and a big loss. You can't expect a dry man to forget a whole case of schnapps. Nok I'm going to let you write him a note and if you can get him to give three cases of gin for you, why he can have you, damn him."

Stops Crying

Andrea stopped crying, sat up straight and dabbed her eyes with her very dirty fingers, but there was a strange, set look in her face that made MacCloster doubt her sudden cure.

"Will you do it?" he asked.

"Never," said Andrea.

"You're queer like all of them," he commented musingly. "But somehow the suggestion stopped you crying."

"What on earth is that?" asked Andrea, her eyes fixed far ahead on an enormous pale-yellow dome that looked as if all the haystacks in the world had been gathered into one.

"That," said MacCloster, his vast chest swelling in equally immeasurable pride, "is my cala, my hut."

"I think there is something the matter with my eyes," said Andrea. "What I see isn't possible."

"Oh, yes it is," said MacCloster. "That's my hut; eighty feet high, one hundred and twenty feet across and 'most a hundred yards' dash around."

"But how did you build it?" asked Andrea, absorbed in spite of her misery.

"Well," replied MacCloster, "I'm modest. I don't mind admitting that God did the building; I just came along and put on the roof. Trevor ever show you any mafuta trees?"

"Yes," they are wonderful," said Andrea, understanding beginning to dawn in her eyes.

"That hut of mine," said MacCloster, "is nothing but the biggest, roundest, widest mafuta tree in the world, trimmed a bit and thatched over."

Half an hour later they made a landing. "Want me to carry you again," asked MacCloster with a leer, "or will you walk?"

"I'll walk," said Andrea, going suddenly white with sickening recollection.

A Masterpiece

MacCloster's craal was a masterpiece of ingenuity. In its centre rose the stupendous cala that had astonished Andrea even from a mile away. Around the monster hut was an impassable boma or barrier of thorns pierced by a single entrance; outside the boma, in the form of a ring, came an enormous beaten court which embraced a large shade-tree, indispensable as a nucleus for pow-wows and men's gossip. Around the beaten circle were three thickly serrated rows of huts and their dependent outhouses. Enclosing the entire human beehive was a stockade of giant cactus with an arched entrance at each point of the compass.

Aside from the repulsive fundamental idea of the enterprise, MacCloster's establishment was astonishingly moral. It was true that he had contracted for over a hundred and eighty wives in strict accordance with native law but it was equally true that he allotted this army of consorts, without exception, to veritable husbands of his own choosing. The only point of divergence from native custom was that he demanded no payment of obolo from these drones and as a consequence retained the right of disposal of their female offspring.

This innovation would have struck at the root of the African's conception of vested interests had it not been for the giant singer's canny astuteness in facilitating to the drones the purchase of one wife each in their own right, thus killing two birds with one stone; for the native male normally works but once in his life and that to earn the sum with which to acquire the mate who will not only thenceforth support him but eventually bring him a return of two or threefold on his investment.

As a consequence, MacCloster never lacked boatboys, machilla carriers, ivory hunters or porters and controlled as well an army of women and girls whose spare time was applied first to the preparation of food and wood and water fetching and then to the cultivation of the enormous shambas which produced corn and millet in great abundance for the lucky members of the close corporation.

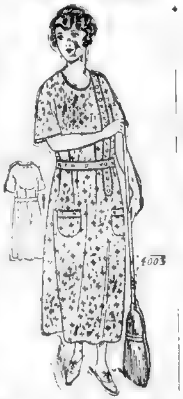
BEST PATTERNS 10c.

YOUR CHOICE OF LATEST STYLES

The Boston American offers today more of its new and stylish dress patterns at a price never before equalled elsewhere. It will cost from 15c to $1 to duplicate these patterns anywhere else. Orders MUST be on OFFICIAL COUPON.



4003

A NEAT AND PRACTICAL "APRON FROCK."

4003. It will take but a few moments to adjust this trim and comfortable garment. One could make it of figured percale with a finish of rick rack—or feather edge braid. The closing is at the side under the facing. In black sateen with cretonne for trimming or in crepe in a pretty shade of yellow with bands of white, it makes a smart "tea" frock.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: small, 34-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. A medium size requires 4⅛ yards of 36 inch material. The width at the foot is about 2½ yards.

A YOUTHFUL STYLE.

4079. Here is a new and very unique version of the one-piece dress. Belt portions over which the tab extensions on front and back are fastened hold the fulness gracefully at the sides. Added width is given to the skirt portion by plaits that form a panel over back and front. This is a good model for gingham, and also for the new tub silks in check and stripe patterns. Organdy or linen may be selected for trimming. The sleeve is cool and pretty in the short length, and in wrist length it is the latest style feature.

The pattern is cut in three sizes, 16, 18 and 20 years. An 18-year size requires 5 yards of 32 inch material. The width of the dress at the foot with plaits extended is 2¾ yards.

RAINBOW EXPLAINED

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

"1—What is a rainbow, and what are the conditions necessary for its appearance? I have read that in Hawaii they are of daily occurrence. Why?

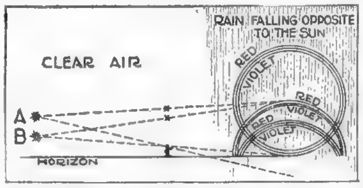
A RAINBOW is a circular spectrum of sunlight, formed by the combined effects of refraction and reflection of light, by the drops in a shower of rain falling on the side of the observer that is opposite to the sun. In order to see a rainbow face to face one must have his back to the sun. The size of the circle, or the angular diameter of the bow, depends upon the refractive index of water; i. e., upon how much the light is turned from its course in passing through the raindrops.

This diameter amounts to from 80 to 84 degrees, making the radius of the bow, or the distance of the colored circle from the centre, from 40 to 42 degrees.

The different colors are not all refracted by the same amount, the red rays being less turned from their course than the yellow, green and violet. This explains the fact that the bow has a considerable width, the red appearing on the outside of the curve and the violet on the inside. Sometimes a second larger but fainter bow is seen, called the secondary rainbow. In this the order of the colors is reversed.

What goes on in the water drops may be thus described: A ray of sunlight enters a drop from the sun, which is behind the observer. In passing through the water of the drop it is refracted and the colors are separated, thus reaching the back of the drop at slightly different places. The concave inner surface of the back of the drop acts like a mirror and sends the light back through the body of the drop. In thus traversing the water a second time the ray is still more refracted, and its colors are more widely separated. They issue from the drop in this state, and when this refracted and dispersed light, coming simultaneously from billions of crowded drops, reaches the eye of the observer, it appears to him in the form of a continuous spectrum, or rainbow.

The Hawaiian rainbows are produced in the same manner as any other, and their great number implies that showers or mists illuminated by sunshine are very frequent there.



The centre of a rainbow, whether visible or not, is always in line with the sun and the observer's eye. When the sun is at the elevation, A, the centre of the rainbow is below the horizon and the observer sees less than a semicircle of the bow. When the sun is at B, on the observer's level, the centre is on the horizon and he sees half of the bow. If he were in a balloon, at X, the centre would be so high that he would see the whole bar as a circle.

CORRECT MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman.

Helping On With a Coat.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it proper or improper for a young lady to assist a young man with his overcoat? I know that it is only necessary in a case where the man is ill or aged. But would it be considered improper otherwise. H. B.

IT is not good form for a young lady to assist a young man with his overcoat, except in the cases you mention. It embarrasses the young man—or should embarrass him.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Our entire family is invited to a birthday party. Would it be proper for us to ask another person to acompany us? This person is our guest.

FRANCES.

YOU should telephone or write to the person who is to be the hostess of the party and ask her permission to bring your guest.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you kindly tell me which is the proper way to pass a milk pitcher at the table? To hand it to the other person so that he can take it at the handle, or to set it on the table so that he can reach it? MEA.

THE first way is correct.

WINCARNIS Was the Only Thing That Seemed to Do Mrs. Hueston Good

"Before taking Wincarnis, I was completely run down. My nerves were in an awful state. I also had indigestion so badly that gas would form around my heart, causing it to palpitate. I could neither eat nor sleep for days at a time. I took a small bottle of Wincarnis and it seemed to do me good, so I bought a large one and within a week I began to feel much better. I started to sleep and eat much better, and my nerves quieted down. After taking three bottles, I felt better than I had for years. Wincarnis is certainly a wonderful tonic."

START THIS BIG, NEW STORY TODAY

Mona Fentriss, young, beautiful and the wife of a consulting engineer, has been told by her physician, Bob Osterhout, who is in love with her, that she has only a short time to live. Mona gives a gay party, telling Pat to go to bed, but the latter borrows a sister's dress, steals downstairs and has "a taste of life." Connie goes to a dance at the club and takes too much punch. She is brought home by Fred Browning, with whom she had uneventfully spent the night. Sel Thorpe gives Pat a "real" kiss. Mona dies and Constance receives a call from Cary Scott, her mother's first admirer. Scott is much taken with Pat. A party is planned for the Dangerfield's, to christen the new swimming pool. A thunder storm puts out the lights and the guests go into the water without clothes. Dee modestly hesitates on the balcony and then the lights came on, revealing her in a blinding glare. One of the bathers is saved from drowning by Cary Scott. Pat and Cary Scott become interested in each other. Pat returns from school and declares she is "out for trouble" this time. Scott takes Cassie to drive, annoying Pat.

Last Sunday my father took my little brother to Franklin Park to see the animals. When he returned home I asked him what sort of animals he saw.

Just because it was called "baby" he thought it was supposed to be very tiny. He couldn't see it because it was crowded, but he thought it was because he was so small.

Imagine my terrible embarrassment after about 10 minutes' ride when I got up to get off of the car to look straight in the woman's face and see my intended mother-in-law. Johnston Defeats Richards in Tennis Match

KING PAYS RESPECTS TO YANKS

Wimbledon, June 29 (A.P.)—King George and Queen Mary were in the royal box today to see William M. Johnston and Vincent Richards, the American lawn tennis stars, in their match to decide which shall continue in the struggle for the world's singles title.

Johnston won the match, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5.

The committee arranged the schedule so that the star match should not start until after the arrival of the royal fans. Their Majesties, with Princess Mary and their entourage arrived at 3 o'clock.

Every seat was filled and standing room was jammed when Richards and Johnston appeared. The weather was ideal with a bright sun and soft breeze.

King George called the two Americans to the royal box, welcomed them and chatted a few moments before the start of the match.

Francis T. Hunter, American, defeated A. H. Fyzee, India, 8-6.

Miss Eleanor Goss, American, eliminated Mrs. Youle, of England, from the women's singles, 8-6, 6-4.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan, former Californian but now of England, defeated Mrs. Craddock, of England, 6-1, 6-4.

ABE FRIEDMAN IS READY TO BATTLE NEE

Eddie Mack writes:

"I see where Fred Weiderhold, manager of Tommy Nee, is trying to get Pancho Villa, Frankie Genaro or Joe Lynch to meet Nee. Now I knows that either one will not come to Boston for two reasons, one is that the promoter will not give either of the three champions the guarantee that they demand and the other is that they will not come here and fight for a decision.

Abe Friedman.

"I have just arrived back from New York, where I spent about six weeks trying to get Villa, Lynch and Genaro to box Abe Friedman, the real New England bantamweight champion. Friedman is willing to do 115 pounds for either of the Big Three but their demands are impossible so I gave it up as wasted energy trying to get them to agree to fight Friedman in Boston for a decision.

"Villa meets Kid Williams on July 30 at Philadelphia and some time in August Villa and Joe Lynch will clash for the bantamweight title at the Yankees' Ball Park in New York City so in the mean while Mr. Weiderhold and Mr. Nee can direct their challenges towards Abe Friedman.

"Four promoters in Boston have tried to get Fred Weiderhold to let Nee box Friedman but he for some reason or other will not listen to the match. Friedman has an international reputation and for Mr. Fred Weiderhold and his fighter, Tommy Nee, they have not fought a fighter that has half the reputation that Abe Friedman has. After Nee eliminates Friedman then he can set sail for the big fellows.

"Friedman will box Tommy Nee any time, any place and bet him $2,500 on the side, or as betting is illegal Friedman will box Nee, winner take all.

Washington Winner in College Regatta

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 29.—A Samson of agony tugged at Dow Walling, stroke of the Washington [illegible] a man of courage, [illegible] him to a standstill and the Northwest [illegible] won.

CRIPPLED STROKE SHOWED GAMENESS AND GRIT

As scrappy little Don Grant, coxswain of Washington, joyously shouted: "Let 'er run," and the Washington shell sped over the finish, a man went down [illegible] of a certainty Don Walling. All the long grueling three miles he had paced a beautiful stroke with a "busted" right knee [illegible] real gameness [illegible]

Walling's knee was badly swollen from an infection [illegible] [illegible] And he [illegible] seeking victory on the Hudson [illegible] through the race [illegible] breaking down threatened, but he was a man of the Northwest.

Once over the line the nectar of victory, the jubilant chatter of Grant ringing in his ears, Walling fell face forward. Gamely, he rose for a fraction of a second [illegible] stay upright, then fell back. The handicap had proved too much, the fever in that knee, the long fight against agony, claimed him. But not until he had won.

In a spectacle that will live long in memories, Cornell's freshmen beat Washington in a wonderful fight to the finish, by a foot [illegible] of a second.

It was the race of the day for thrills. Cornell's time for the two miles was 9:27 4-5; Washington's, 9:28. If Washington—the great [illegible] had made the catch [illegible] fraction of a second sooner it would have won. Syracuse was third, Penn fourth and Columbia fifth.

DEMPSEY BOUT IS SOUGHT BY NEW YORK PROMOTERS

CHAMPION IS SURE OF CLEANUP

By SID MERCER

New York, June 29.—The battle for choice boxing luxuries continues with unabated violence even though the luscious Benny Leonard-Lew Tendler plum dropped into the hat of James J. Johnson, matchmaker for the Cromwell A. C.

With the Leonard issue settled by the refusal of the New York State Athletic Commission to suspend Benny at the request of the New Jersey Commission, Jack Dempsey once more becomes the lure of contention. When Dempsey comes here next month he will have his choice of a match with Harry Wills or the winner of the Willard-Firpo scuffle.

Johnston for several weeks has been angling for a Dempsey-Wills match with the idea of staging it as a daylight show at the Yankee Stadium late in August or early in September. His bid has received serious consideration from Jack Kearns because he can accommodate more people than the Polo Grounds.

For a big heavyweight championship fight it is believed that the Yankee Stadium could provide accommodations for 100,000 customers and as Dempsey would be working on percentage that is a strong argument. Boyle's Thirty Acres has a capacity of 90,000. The Polo Grounds when completed and with seats on the field will accommodate about 75,000.

While Kearns declines to tie up Dempsey in any way before the Shelby engagement with Tom Gibbons he has recently indicated that he favors the Yankee Stadium will get the Dempsey-Wills fight. The champion's manager has been cured by his Montana experience of wildcat promoting and fighting in the great open and sparsely settled States.

Tex Rickard, though a loser in his effort to have Leonard meet Charlie White before Tendler, does not propose to let Dempsey get away if he can help it. Several weeks ago Tex conceived the idea of bringing Dempsey and the winner of the Willard-Firpo contest together at Jersey City late in July.

He stepped in with a proposition to Kearns, and while he has not received any definite assurance that the champion's manager will agree to it, he will leave no stone unturned to land the match.

Rickard apparently is not interested in promoting a fuss between Dempsey and Wills. It now looks as if Tom O'Rourke and Jimmy Johnston will have the exclusive privilege of casting fancy offers for that set of fisticuffs.

In a statement sent out from Rickard's office, the probability of Willard or Firpo meeting Dempsey is discussed but no claim is made that the champion is signed. Rickard already has lined up the two principals of the Jersey City contest on July 12.

Willard of course has always had Dempsey as his chief objective since he resumed his ring activities and Firpo is not averse to picking up a fortune by acting a catcher for Dempsey's pitching.

Since his return from Mexico Firpo has agreed to Rickard's terms for a Dempsey match provided he defeats Willard. Rickard has been in almost daily communication with Jack Kearns and says that Dempsey and Kearns expect to come here immediately after the Shelby engagement to get a line on Willard and Firpo and talk terms. The champion has never seen Firpo in action.

FLYNN DEMANDS TAIT BE GIVEN LEONARD BOUT

While Messrs. Rickard and Johnson are wrangling over the heavyweight situation, Leo Flynn, who never, as a rule, raves about a fight [illegible] with the following [illegible] look like they might have [illegible] championship contests for Benny Leonard's title.

"[illegible] Tex Rickard is [illegible] White-Leonard [illegible] Jimmy Johnston, [illegible] Leonard [illegible] Tendler [illegible] Gibson says that White is [illegible] the champion. Too true. Still Tendler has already been beaten by Leonard, and White was knocked out.

"Tait is therefore the logical contender," says Leo.

"Tait has never been defeated in his long career in the box. He has boxed every good man that would step in with him. His latest victim was the tough Roy Mitchell, whom some experts thought was the coming aspirant for [illegible] honors. Tait made a [illegible] of him twice. Once to a referee's decision and the last time in Philadelphia came close to knocking him out.

"This proves beyond the shadow of a doubt that Tait is the man for the champion to meet, not the 'Lasher' that [illegible] beaten [illegible] Leo [illegible] "Why not an elimination contest? Let Tait first box Charley White whom he is sure to beat. Then let Tendler step in with him. The result is sure to be a Tait-Leonard contest as Tait will be a cinch to beat either Tendler or White.

"Why don't Leonard accept the offer made by a Winnipeg syndicate? Leonard was offered $[illegible] by this syndicate to box Tait but it looks like the champion would rather box setups as his manager, Gibson, [illegible]

"We would like to see a Tait-Leonard [illegible] as we [illegible] Tait is as good a performer as [illegible] in the lightweight [illegible] Leonard should come out [illegible] his reasons for not boxing Tait [illegible] view of the lucrative offer which has already been made to him. Tait [illegible] a hit with local fans at the Arena."

Whippet Races Attract Society to Fair, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

SLIM shiny bodies all a wiggle with nerves, the drop of a handkerchief, and the whippets are off!

After that not much more than a streak across the field, or maybe a small cloud of dust, for whippets are about the fastest creatures in the world.

Bayard Tuckerman Jr. has charge of the whippet races to be held tomorrow at the Community House and grounds at Hamilton-Wenham. The occasion is the annual Christ Church (Episcopal) parish fair which in other years has been held on the Randolph B. Dodge estate at Wenham.

Among the prominent matrons interested in the affair are Mrs. William G. Mitchell of Boston and Hamilton, who has charge of the "grabs" and games, Mrs. Charles F. Ayer (the Ayers spent the first Winter last season at their wonderful new home on Dartmouth street) who with the Rev. Dr. Henry Smart is general chairman of the fair; Mrs. George C. Vaughan, antique shop, Mrs. Charles T. Parker and Mrs. Houston A. Thomas, who have the flowers and vegetables, and Mrs. Albert C. Burrage, who is to be responsible for the animals.

SPEAKING of Mrs. Burrage—the Burrages spent the Winter in California, I believe—she has a very nice little grandson, Albert Cameron Burrage 3rd, who is pictured above with his mother, Mrs. Albert Burrage Jr. of Hamilton.

Apropos of the doings of the very younger set along the North Shore, "Pete" Sortwell of the Beverly Farms colony was quite swelled with paternal pride the other day when his little daughter, Anna, won the first prize for spelling. The award, a book, was made just before the closing of the Shore school, and was certainly well deserved, for the winner missed only five words the whole year. Mr. and Mrs. Sortwell (Ellie Pollard) are the proud parents of four little girls and one son, the latter born to them within the past year.

MR. AND MRS. ROGER F. HOOPER (Justine Barber), whose Winter home is on Beacon street, have had as guest at their Manchester-by-the-Sea place Mrs. Hooper's mother, Mrs. Thomas H. Barber. The latter is returning this week to her Summer home in Southampton, known as "Claverack House."

MRS. WILLIAM PHILLIPS (Caroline Drayton) has returned from a brief visit to Washington and is back again with her children at the family's Beverly Farms place. Mr. Phillips, the Assistant Secretary of State, will join them whenever his duties permit.

Mrs. John C. Phillips (Eleanor Hyde) of Mt. Vernon, has sailed for abroad with her children, her husband, Dr. Phillips, planning to join them later on.

THE James Cummings Barrs, now of New York, paid another of their frequent visits to Boston, their former home, to attend the wedding of Miss Nell White and David Sears 2nd, solemnized on Monday at Cohasset. The Barrs made their headquarters during their stay here at the Copley Plaza, where they entertained a number of young people at dinner the other evening. Mr. and Mrs. Barr are on their way to the old Barr homestead in New Ipswich, N. H.

MRS. ALBERT C. BURRAGE, JR.

An active member of the "younger set" along the North Shore is sturdy little Albert C. Burrage 3d, who is pictured here with his mother, Mrs. Albert Burrage Jr., of Hamilton.

GOWN DISPLAY OF 'ENEMIES' DAZZLING

By BETTY ALDEN.

Fascinating dancing girls, Lionel Barrymore as charming as ever. Gay Paris entering the war. Daring parachute jumps from burning aircraft. Alma Rubens' remarkable black eyes. Monte Carlo in all its wickedness. Lavishly carried out bacchanales. Stately palaces seized by the "Reds."

All this, and much more, may be seen in "Enemies of Women," the magnificent Cosmopolitan production now playing at the Loew's State Theatre.

But not the least important feature of the film is Alma Rubens' sartorial display. She changes her gowns about every other minute and each time she looks just a trifle more stunning. Miss Rubens plays the part of "Alicia, Duchess de Lille."

The very first time the "Duchess" appears in the picture she has on a magnificent evening affair of white heavily encrusted with jewels. Both the gown and the crownlike head gear savor of the Russian and are most becoming to the wearer's brunette beauty.

Then follows a dazzling array of sartorial creations. Absolutely breath-taking. There are clinging chiffons, swathy cloths of gold and silver, rich velvets, wonderful furs, striking head ornaments, rare laces, clever draperies and always there is originality and beauty of design.

Just to see the gorgeous gowns with which the "Duchess" bedecks her slender figure makes "Enemies of Women" an experience itself. But, as we have said before, there are also the daringness of the parachute jumps, the charm of Lionel Barrymore, the wickedness of Monte Carlo—and so on—to make this picture the success it is.

Have a Smile With Us

By Nat N. Dorfman

THE Sioux Indians claim the government owes them $700,000,000 for lands seized, and so they are Sioux-ing for it.

The month of June contains five pay days, but the butcher, grocer and baker are as well prepared to take it as the months that have only four.

Murder, murder everywhere, and not a wife convicted.

Hysterical Note.

General Sherman said "war is hell," but how was he to know some day there would be a Reno?

Signs of Summer.

The sudden return of the neighbor's chickens in your garden.

The renewed visits of the salesman selling vacuum cleaners.

The independence of your ice dealer after a hard Winter.

Repainting of the barns by the advertising companies from one brand of pills to another.

It has been discovered that mny persons supporting the prohibition movement carry flasks on their persons. Hip-ocrites, as it were.

For Brainy People.

Q.—What is the first sign of Summer?

A.—The announcement there will be a coal shortage next Winter.

Q.—How can I keep the neighbor's chickens off my place?

A.—By sending your good-looking sons on a vacation.

Q. — Do you believe we can speak to the dead?

A. — Yes, don't you sometimes get central in a telephone booth?

Q. — Are men more outspoken than women?

A. — No; a woman never lets mere man outspeak her.

Warning Note.

When the wife says, "Dear, you must be tired," there's a C. O. D. package on the way somewhere.

Phil Ossify Says—

We wonder if open-work hosiery is manufactured in an open shop?

The opera season is over and a lot of people won't have to lie about liking it until Fall.

The fellow that used to break through the traces nowadays breaks through the telegraph poles and fences in his machine.

If the spread of the automobile continues, they will all be one-horse towns.

A man arrested for stealing saxophones in New York and a committee has been organized to raise money for the erection of a monument to him.

Did you ever stop to think an undertaker is face to face with grave problems every day, and, unlike soe our statesmen never gets ruffled?

WHEN IN LOVE

With a banker's daughter, show interest in everything she says:

With a bricklayer's daughter, watch out for bricks.

With a policeman's daughter, sit near an open window.

With a detective's daughter, don't look him in the eye.

With a cross-eyed girl, wear tortoise-shell glasses.

Medbury Says—

By John P. Medbury

SO many women are having their hair bobbed lately that the barbers are thinking of going on a strike. A barber doesn't like to cut a woman's locks because when she gets in the chair she does all the talking.

AND very few tonsorial artists have had much experience in listening.

THE only chin they're used to hearing is their own.

AND when a woman begins to talk she doesn't want any competition.

IT'S only in the last few months that the barbers have begun to realize how much the men customers have been suffering.

THE barbers find it hard to please the women. A dame will get her hair bobbed today and come back tomorrow and say you cut too much off and expect you to put some of it back.

SHE has her hair bobbed and if it looks good she'll take the credit herself, but if it looks bad she'll blame you.

THEY expect a barber to make them look beautiful when nature gave it up.

ONE dame went in to have her hair bobbed and asked the barber if she should take an anesthetic.

HE told her no, but after he listened to her talk for fifteen minutes he wished she had taken chloroform.

HOWEVER, in most cases it wouldn't make any difference because if a woman is naturally gabby she'll talk whether she's asleep or not.

THE best thing to do is for the barber to take the chloroform.

WOMEN talk where tonsorial artists fear to speak.

YEARS ago, mothers used to bring their little daughters in to get their hair cut, now the daughters are bringing their mothers in.

IT'S nothing to hear a girl say, "Come on in, Ma; I'll treat you to a hair cut."

THEN the mother will say, "Thanks just the same, dear; but I didn't bring my hair with me."

IT used to take a woman two hours to arrange her hair, now it takes her twice that long even to locate it.

SOME of them take it off when they go in the house and hang it on the hat rack, and then they know right where it is when they get ready to go out.

FOR years the barbers have been doing all the speaking, but now that women are patronizing tonsorial parlors there's no use talking.

WORK GRADUALLY IN INFLUENCING SON OR DAUGHTER.

You are the fortunate parent of a boy or girl who finishes school this year.

Perhaps you have had a long talk with that son or daughter, trying to make youth see things as they look to you.

Instead of working up by degrees you tried to ram the thought down all at once and did not succeed in convincing through your argument.

You know you have not made the impression you intended to convey.

Think back to the time of your graduation. What were your thoughts, aspirations and desires at that time?

You may realize that that child is very much like yourself at the same period in life.

Can you see now how your own father or mother might have made the greatest impression in the giving of advice to you?

Then use the same method on your boy or girl that you know would have had most weight with you at the dawn of responsibility.

It is worth every effort possible on your part to get across the principles and facts you know to be worth while. Work gradually.

DID J'EVER!

That a fireman always carries matches with him.

That the Garden of Eden is a suburb.

That sandpaper is made by picnic parties at the beach.

That a sack race is a contest between men in sack suits.

New York Market Is Quiet and Irregular With Weakness in Steel Group

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

—By B. C. Forbes—

Wall Street has been having a bad fit of hysterics during the last two weeks.

The Stock Market yesterday morning was forced down to new low levels for the year.

Are such panicky sentiment and selling warranted?

I, for one, don't think so.

* * *

Wall Street has an axiom, "the crowd is always wrong." Well, the crowd in Wall Street certainly is extremely nervous and bearish. Consequently, according to the axiom just quoted, the Stock Market should shortly be due for a recovery. The excited selling by small fry unquestionably has been aggravated by vigorous attacks by professional bears having a lot of capital or credit at their command. The current unsettlement is very largely of Wall Street's own making. The public, away from Wall Street, are not half so alarmed.

* * *

Wall Street rarely has been so full of wild rumors as it has been during the last fortnight. I find that uneasiness has spread latterly to Wall Street individuals and houses that usually keep their heads. It is not that these people know of anything to justify their apprehensions; only, disturbing stories have been flying so thick and fast that they have finally began to make an impression.

So far as I know, all this panicky talk has no substantial foundation.

But, let me add this: If Wall Street persists in talking panicky and acting panicky, thus forcing security prices lower and lower, then it will be logical for unpleasant happenings to develop.

But there is no need for anything of the kind occurring.

* * *

Wall Street—and some other parts of the country, also—paid much attention to the advice issued by one of the many "services" to "sell immediately on every rally." It was immediately pointed out, however, by financial interests that this same "service" was issuing bullish advices early in March, at the very height of the stock market rise. That had the effect of taking off the latest advices to sell, now that stocks are fully $13 a share lower, on the average, than they were early in March.

* * *

Any person or organization or institution that pretends to be able to predict what the stock market will do tomorrow, or next week, or next month, is foolish beyond words. No human being, no aggregation of human beings, can have such gift of prophecy.

It does not call for any clairvoyancy, however, to judge when investment stocks have reached a reasonable level from the investment viewpoint.

There are times, also, when anyone who studies things closely and intelligently can foretell a general business collapse or a general recovery.

The writer freely predicted months ago that the business pace was becoming altogether too rapid and that a relapse was being courted. That relapse came.

It can be said with equal confidence at this monent that many dividend-paying stocks of established record and reputation are at an attractive price level from the point of view of the genuine investor.

* * *

That does not imply that the stock market cannot or will not go lower. It may or it may not—nobody can foretell.

But it does imply, it does mean, that anyone having money to invest can make safe and acceptable selections at current quotations, and can feel reasonably confident that sooner or later the average level of security prices will work higher.

* * *

Personally, I am never foolish enough to try to write anything which could be construed as a "tip" to buy or to sell stocks for what Wall Street calls "a quick turn." I have scant interest in those who jump in and out of the stock market in the hope of snatching an immediate profit, first on the bull side and then on the bear side. For all but those who make speculation their main business in life, this is a fool's game—at least, according to my light.

* * *

I feel less concerned over both the business outlook and the stock market outlook than I did in January and February and early in March when it was most unfashionable and most unpopular to be anything but rip-snortingly bullish and exuberant.

Both business and securities are today on a healthier basis than they were then.

* * *

These facts don't spell panic:

Money and credit are abundant at low rates and promise to continue so.

The latest statistics indicate a shortage of 600,000 workers.

More than one hundred and fifty corporations have this year so improved their earnings that they have been able to take cheerful dividend action.

The general price level has ceased to climb towards dangerous heights, and has been easing off appreciably, though not at all drastically.

Our imports of raw and semi-finished materials have been unusually large.

Railroad traffic continues very heavy.

Savings deposits have been increasing in steady, orderly, inspiring fashion.

(Copyright, 1923, By B. C. Forbes)

BETH. STEEL IS OFF 4 BEFORE RALLYING

Stocks were quiet and irregular in New York today with outstanding weakness in the Steel group. Bethlehem Steel sagged 4 points to a new year's low before rallying. This issue, though paying 5 per cent, is now selling for less than half the price of the preferred, which pays 7 per cent.

New 1923 lows were made by Republic Steel, American Drug Syndicate and Chandler Motor.

Gulf States Steel yielded 2 points. Crucible and Republic sagged over a point each.

Studebaker was strong, up better than a point. Baltimore & Ohio rose nearly 2 points, leading the rails. Mack Truck rose over 2 points.

There were point or better gains in Union Pacific, Davison Chemical, Anaconda, American Sugar, Corn Products, International Paper, Royal Dutch Utah Copper, Western Union, Stewart-Warner and Stromberg.

Sears-Roebuck and Chandler were off 2 points and Pan-American "A" around 2.

Some falling off in reserve ratios of the federal banking system and the local regional instituitons reflected preparations for semi-annual disbursements, and had no efect on stock prices in the early dealings.

That business has been receding of late is generally accepted, yet car-loadings through to mid-June have continued at the million-a-week peak and no marked slump is in sight. Every indication is given that with the crop movement starting in August traffic will reach even greater proportions, and only a very decided slump in shipments of manufactured products will revent this.

That the railroads are benefiting from the big business is seen in the May earnings statements, showing big comparaitve gains in both gross and net as constrasted with May, 1922.

Wall St. Gossip

BARNET Leather Company has just finished automatically controlled cold storage plant at Litle Falls providing perfect storage for 500,000 hides.

KELLY Springfield Tire Co. is to close its Akron plant July 1 for an indefinite period. About 500 men affected.

STOCK Exchange membership of W. C. Anderson has been sold to William H. McCall for $92,000. Last sale was for $90,000.

BALTIMORE & Ohio, June estimated reports net fo tsix months at six months at $22,821,318, which is at an annual rate, weighted for seasonal fluctuations of traffic, of 21.6 per cent on common.

DECREE in Reading segregation case merely gives effect to third modified plan, the details of which were made public several weeks ago.

NUMBER of holders of United States Steel common at closing of books for June dividend was 93,139, against 94,198 in March.

TEXAS CO. folowed Humble Oil in reducing Mexia crude 25 cents a barrel to $1.25 and Currie crule 35 cents barrel to $1.35.

UNDOUBTEDLY decline has been unwarranted by present-day conditions or any likely developments ahead, but then Wal Street always has done things by extremes.

PERE Marquette's net operating income for the first five months indicates annual rate of 12.1 per cent on common, against 12.5 per cent on the same basis for first months and actual earnings of 6.4 per cent in 1922.

NATIONAL Enameling earnings on common are reported running around 14 per cent., with orders ahead for three months.

BUSINESS of Chicago Pneumatic Tool is running near capacity and has shown constantly steady increase.

KELLOGG Switchboard for 1922 reports gross sales of $5,695,823, against $5,455,396 in 1921; net income $603,285, against $464,877.

RETURNS from thirty-three representative roads indicate net of 6.88 per cent. on property valuation, best record in many years.

(Send inquiries on investments to Frank H. Meloon, Financial Editor, Boston American, No. 80 Summer street, Boston, Mass. Enclose stamped and self-addressed envelope for reply.)

AUTO STOCKS

TO N. C. C., Jersey street.—Replying to U. M. B., North Market street, in the Boston American of March 27, I said: "I am distinctly bearish on most auto stocks, because I am convinced that, while the auto industry has not reached the saturation point the saturation point has been reached and surpassed in auto companies. With auto production for March at peak levels, competition is the keenest that has ever been witnessed. In a great industrial battle such as is now raging, many must fail, and even the victors cannot hope to escape unscathed.

"I have reasons for believing some auto stocks are already under distribution near the year's tops, but at present careful selection should be made. Within a few weeks it seems likely that the group will be selling appreciably lower. In the meantime, to aid distribution, a few will be run higher.

If you had read my column carefully and followed its advice, you therefore would not now be several hundred dollars behind the market in the motor shares. As you hold only good grade investment motors, you would be unwise to sell now and accept the severe depreciation that has taken place.

EASTERN STEAMSHIP.

To D. I. D., Quincy—I never advised anyone to buy Eastern Steamship when it was near par, because the stock appeared to me to be selling too high. The slump in price had nothing to do with April deficit, but the extreme drop was doubtless in large part due to violently bearish conditions in the general market.

The fact that Eastern Steamship Lines operated at a deficit of $71,586 in April as compared with only $6,775 deficit in April, 1922, although total operating revenues were 29 per cent. larger, is easily explained.

Concentration in thato ne month of a number of extraordinary expense items affected the final result. Chief among these was replacement of certain interior furnishings of four boats, the first time these furnishings have had to be renewed. In addition, fuel costs were higher in April this year, there was a considerable increase in longshoremen's wages reflecting the advance of five cents an hour regular time and six cents overtime, and lastly, the higher schedule of Cape Cod Canal tolls went into effect April 1. These various items, combined, approximately account for the increase of $64,811 in April deficit as compared with same month year ago.

Tuesday's decline, close to 77, represented a drop of about 50 from the year's high. Quotations ignored the fact that there is a 100 per cent. stock dividend in $3.50 second preferred stock of no par still on. If this new stock is worth $40 a share, then low of Eastern is 37¼ ex-dividend.

KILBURN MILL.

To F. D. R., Taunton—Condensed analysis you ask for follows: Kilburn Mill—Incorporated in Massachusetts in 1904. Plant at New Bedford. Equipped with 126,000 spindles for the manufacture of fine combed cotton yarns. Capital stock, $2,250,000 (increased from $1,500,000 by payment of 50 per cent. stock dividend in December, 1922). No funded debt. Surplus and reserves September 30, 1922, $4,082,953. Dividends payable quarterly, June 15. Recent payments as follows: 1918, 20 per cent.; 1919, 20 per cent.; 1920, 15 per cent.; 1921, 8 per cent.; 1922, 8 per cent.; March, 1923, 2 per cent.

AMERICAN RADIATOR

To R. F. S., Winter street.—American Radiator is one of the largest manufacturers and distributors of radiators, boilers and other heating apparatus and appliances, vacuum cleaners and malleable iron and steel castings, with many plants distributed throughout the eastern and middle western States. The company was incorporated in 1899 under laws of New Jersey as successor to an Illinois corporation of the same name. The management has consistently pursued a policy of absorption of smaller companies in its class, both foreign and domestic, until today it is represented not only in the United States, but in England, France, Italy, Belgium, Germany and Austria. All stock of the foreign subsidiaries is owned by the parent company.

American Radiator last year earned net profit of $5,759,669, after all charges and Federal taxes, equivalent, after preferred dividends to $6.70 a share (par $25) on the $20,709,350 common stock. This compared with $3,046,645, or $5.13 a share on $13,806,225 common in 1921. Volume of business last year was far in excess of any previous year. Demand for company's products afforded it an opportunity to operate all its plants at full capacity for the first time since 1916.

Business of the foreign subsidiaries was also more satisfactory than in any previous year, not excepting the war period when these companies were heavily engaged in production of munitions.

The year 1923 started on a most encouraging basis. An unprecedented amount of unfilled orders stood on the company's boks at beginning of the year. The two most important factors responsible for the large increase in company's business last year and at the present time are (1) the record new building boom which started early in 1922 and is still on the increase; and (2) the higher cost of fuel and its shortage the past Winter. All indications point to a record volume of business this year, which, of course, should find reflection in price of the stock.

Last October directors of American Radiator declared 50 per cent. stock dividend on the common which was paid in December. Earnings were such as to wararnt maintenance of regular $1 dividend quarterly on the increased stock, and this has been done to date. Latest stock dividend was the fifth paid by the company, 10 per cent. stock distributions having been paid in 1912, 1913 and 1914 and 50 per cent. in 1917.

Notwithstanding 50 per cent. stock distribution last year, surplus on company's books as of December 31, 1922, amounts to over $7,750,000.

Hotel and Resort Chat

By Marjorie L. George,
Hotel and Travel Editor

The Hotel Bond Company, of Hartford, Ct., has made an extensive addition to its real estate holdings. Harry S. Bond, treasurer and managing director, announcing the purchase of the Maslen property, next south of the Bondmore.

Mr. Bond said that he would hold his purchase practically as it is for the present, but that it was acquired for the purpose of expanding his series of hotel buildings, and as soon as building conditions become favorable he intends to add a unit to the Hotel Bond. This unit will have twelve stories and 320 rooms and will be in consonance with the Hotel Bond, which was built by the George A. Fuller Company of New York city.

MASONS CELEBRATE AT TERRACE GABLES.

Terrace Gables Hotel at Falmouth Heights was the scene of a merry party on Monday and Tuesday of this week in celebration of the 125th anniversary of Marine Lodge, A. F. and A. M. One hundred members of Sutton Commandery of New Bedford, accompanied by the splendid commandery band, were in attendance. A banquet, served in the style for which Terrace Gables is famous, was a feature of the occasion.

Situated as it is on a bluff overlooking Vineyard Sound, Terrace Gables is cooled by almost constant southwest breezes. It is here that perfection of sea bathing may be enjoyed, a long stretch of sandy beach sloping gradually out to deep water. There is absolutely no undertow and the water is warmed to just the right degree by the Gulf Stream. Dancing is enjoyed every evening, tennis courts and baseball grounds adjoin the hotel and nearby is one of the best nine hole golf courses along the coast. The excellence of its cuisine makes Terrace Gables a favorite tarrying place for motorists.

WORCESTER GOLF TOURNAMENT AT RYE.

Stoneleigh Manor at Rye Beach, N. H., opened its fourth season on June 22 with capacity bookings. Among the guests were the Worcester Associates from the Worcester Country Club, who are having a golf tournament this week at the Abenaqui Course. The trophy is a beautiful silver cup presented to the Associates by the Manor. On Sunday evening the guests enjoyed a concert given by the Schubert Quartette of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Preston of Cambridge, Mas., are spending a portion of their honeymoon at the Manor.

COOL AT CHATHAM; INN IS NOW OPEN.

The Chatham Bars Inn is considered by many the coolest resort in New England at this time of year, due to its seaward location. The Inn opened its ninth season on June 21, and a large number of prominent people arrived early to escape the hot weather. Early bookings are advisable at this always popular house.

BALSAMS OPENS AT DIXVILLE NOTCH.

The opening week of the Balsams at Dixville Notch was a very gay one, with the entertaining of the 800 guests who came for the mid-Summer session of the Automotive Equipment Association. A full social calendar was provided for the visitors, and many of them extended their stay to become better acquainted with this lovely section of New England.

Besides the nightly dance and the special concert, there was the colorful Carnival Ball held on Wednesday night. During the day hikes were taken up to the summits of Mount Gloriette, Mount Sanguinari and Mount Abernathy, and on Wednesday the women guests enjoyed a delightful motor trip.

On Friday the finals in the women's golf tournament was played off at the Country Club while the men did battle for the several fine cups and trophies on Thursday and Friday. The list of the guests was most cosmopolitan, among then being Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Hillis of San Francisco and Mr. Gervaise Hillis of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Jenkins of Charleston, S. C., Mrs. S. H. Sheldon of Portland, Ore., Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Smith of St. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Sherman of New York city, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McLean and Miss Eleanor McLean of Cleveland, O., and Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Robbins of Detroit, Mich.

Among the Massachusetts visitors were: Mr. and Mrs. Wallace C. Page, Mr. and Mrs. F. Marsen Butts, Mr. and Mrs. V. C. B. Wetmore of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Bellows of Worcester, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Chase, Mr. H. E. Ring and Miss Dorothy Ring and Mr. L. B. Smith of Attleboro.

AUTO TOURISTS AT BEACONSFIELD.

This delightful suburban hotel is proving increasingly popular with automobile tourists and visitors to Boston. Its situation is unique among Boston hotels, combining as it does all the attractions of country life with the advantages of proximity to a large city. To the motorists the accessibility of the State roads and boulevards for which Massachusetts is noted is an important feature. The Beaconsfield garage has a capacity of 150 machines and every facility is offered for their proper housing and care.

An excellent gravel tennis court, sheltered by rows of shade trees is at all times an attractive and sequestered spot and within easy distance are the Longwood Courts, famous as the scene of many national and international matches. The private park in the rear of the house is an attraction rarely found at a hotel almost within city limits; comfortable seats are placed among the elms, maples and flowering shrubs and the well-kept flower beds are a constant delight to the eye.

BEVERLY YACHT CLUB REGATTAS AT MARION.

The Beverly Yacht Club will hold its regatas at Marion this Summer and the veranda of the fashionable Hotel Sippican will be a vantage point from which to view them. Marion is justly considered the show place of Buzzard's Bay, for here are located the beautiful estates of Galen L. Stone, Harry Converse, W. L. Douglas, and George W. Mitton.

The Tennis Racquet Club has an interesting Summer program, and the two excellent golf courses are well patronized by devotees of the royal game. Marion also boasts of one of the largest and most powerful wireless stations in existence. Charles W. Kokerda, proprietor of the Sippican, reports a large number of early bookings.

BOSTONIANS AT HOTEL BRESLIN.

The Hub was well represented the past week on the register of the Hotel Breslin in New York City. This house has a well-chosen slogan, "An Hotel of Contentment Within the Circle of Activity," and is operated with the object of pleasing each individual guest. The Hotel Breslin is only a few blocks from the Pennsylvania and Grand Central Terminals, is within easy walking distance of all theatres and is just around the corner from Fifth avenue, the wonder thoroughfare of the world.

STATIONERS HOLD PEMBERTON OUTING.

The Boston Stationers' Association held its annual outing last Saturday at Hotel Pemberton under the able direction of its president, Arthur Cole of Haverhill, assisted by Harry Copeland and executives of the various firms. A real Pemberton clam chowder was served immediately upon the arrival of the visitors, whose appetites had been sharpened by the trip down the harbor, and was followed by a baseball game, water sports, fun on the midway, a tug of war and one of the finest shore dinners to be obtained on the South Shore.

After the dinner President Cole awarded the many beautiful and valuable prizes which had been contributed by the manufacturers and an evening of dancing, had the moonlight sail home for its delightful climax.

Pemberton seems to have been especially designed by nature as a place for Summer recreation and with the excellent accommodations and famous cuisine of the Pemberton Hotel and the Pemberton Inn, there is little left to wish for. It is ideal.

CURLEY SEES HARM IN ALIEN RULING

Expresing fear that transatlantic liners would cancel Boston as a port of call, due to the new ruling that alien immigrants arriving Sunday would not be examined until Monday, Mayor Curley urged Frank S. Davis, director of the Maritime Association of the Chamber of Commerce, to consider the problem and possibly protest to the Secretary of Labor.

"This is a reversal of the policy which I am informed has existed at this port for the past twenty-five years and which has resulted in Boston being favorably known among shipping interests as the port where transatlantic passengers are most expeditiously handled," said the Mayor.

Boston welcomes the thousands of Baptist young people of America to her heart, her homes and her history.—Rev. Dr. F. F. Peterson.

The city of Boston has 10.5 per cent. of the area of the metropolitan district and 45.09 per cent. of the population.

Teachers Responsible for Public Schools

William B. Owen, president of the National Education Association, tells us that the American public school has done the greatest work of any social institution ever created by man.

He warns the conceited outsiders that their interference is not particularly helpful. He tells them that the school teachers themselves are the ones to handle the schools and that chambers of commerce, the American Bar Association and the American Medical Association are not, in the last analysis, the best doctors for the public schools.

We believe that he is right. The responsibility does rest upon the school teachers, but unfortunately the teachers are not supported by the public as they used to be supported in the old days, when the importance of the public school was more clearly recognized in America than it is today.

We have sadly neglected our teachers. We have underpaid them. We have lost to school teaching a great many energetic, progressive spirits whom we could have gathered to the teaching fold if it had been as remunerative as it ought to be.

No matter what it costs to get a good teacher, the price is cheap, and poor teachers are the most expensive thing the community can have, even if they give their services for nothing.

Mr. Owen says that the schools have improved greatly in the last ten years. We hope so. The public schools must keep up with the times.

We should like to see the public school teachers have more to say about the method of teaching in their schools. We should like to see their national conventions have more influence upon public teaching than they have. We should like to see also a corresponding sense of responsibility and progressiveness on the part of the public school teachers for the education of the youth of America.

We should like to see that responsibility not only for primary and high school education, but for college education as well.

We have the recent scandals at Amherst, Clark University and Harvard, where trustees, representing organized and predatory wealth, have succeeded in suppressing free speech, free teaching and free thinking—the things which, for democracy's sake, it is education's most essential task to develop. Have the public school teachers considered this situation in our colleges, and do they feel a sense of responsibility for it? Most of them are alumni of our colleges. All of them are giving their lives to the work of preparing young Americans to bear the burdens and privileges of good citizenship. Is there nothing that they can do to help this situation?

Can they not see that we must have a public university, and will they help us get it?

Savagery Is Still on Earth

And Kills, in the Name of Religion

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

Dr. Shapara, whom the English King decorated for services to the British Empire, has most strongly wiped out smallpox in Nigera. Joining a secret African society, he learned that the members worshipped smallpox as a fetish and constantly spread it as part of their religion. Breaking up the secret society put an end to smallpox, thanks to vaccination.

We pity that ignorance, but the writer heard many farmers say, not so long ago, that the mosquito bite was good for rheumatism, whereas it actually implanted malaria. And the wives of those same farmers believed that a child with a head free from vermin was not in good health.

There is savagery outside of Africa, lots of it, but the strangest kinds of savagery are there. Consider the protest of the French to the League of Nations against cannibalism in the Kameruon regions, taken from Germany after the war.

Members of a Kameruon secret organization called "The Leopards," waylay, kill and devour their fellow savages—and that is part of their religion. The worship of smallpox and cannibalism seems unspeakably horrible. But only a few centuries have passed since every religion taught that God, ruling above, could be pleased by sacrifice and slaughter, first of human beings, later of animals.

It is hard to believe that men once butchered other men and women, young boys and girls, believing that the sight and smell of their blood could please an all-powerful Creator.

Yet at this moment comes from Rangoon in Burma news of human sacrifices still made in the mountains of North Burma.

The story is not the yarn of an irresponsible traveler, but the report of a government investigating committee which tells you that at least six to ten are sacrificed yearly.

When the natives, anxious to please their god with the smell of blood, are prosperous, twenty or thirty men and girls may be sacrificed. They are bought from slave traders or they are children kidnaped from nearby Assam. The government recently released one of the slave girls selected for religious butchery. You mustn't expect too much of a human race that is as near to savagery with such brutality surviving here and there.

Another Challenge

It's Not Useless

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

Sir Thomas Lipton will challenge again with a new sailing boat. Young reporters will be seasick, white trousers and yachting caps will be sold—also tea.

But such racing is not entirely useless, like modern horse racing, used as an excuse for gambling.

Men have still something to learn about adapting the hulls to swift movement through the water, and Lipton's challenge may still have practical value.

DAYTIME IS STRETCHED IN PARIS

PARIS, June 29.—Daylight saving time isn't enough for the enterprising keepers of the picturesque bookstalls which stretch for many blocks along the quay on the left bank of the River Seine.

The proprietor of one of the stalls conceived the idea of installing electric lights to enable patrons to peruse the volumes on his shelves after nightfall. Now proprietors all along the line are planning to put in the same fixtures and, incidentally, add two or three more hours to their already long vigil.

Labor Shortage and Wages

Editor Boston American:

They say that the shortage of labor will amount to 600,000. I think if the employers would pay a living wage there would be no shortage of labor. Everything is up and wages are at a standstill with the exception of the building trades. They are compelled to pay a living wage because the union is strong enough to make them pay. The railroads are short of laborers. Why shouldn't they be when they only pay about four dollars for eight hours' work and other firms are paying up to eight dollars a day? Other firms have not increased their men enough to hold them. Why should the railroads' men stay with them? They are the first to reduce salaries and the last to increase them. I think it would be a good idea for the newspapers to see the men once in a while and find out what the railroads are doing, in place of taking the word of some of the high officials.

RAILROAD EMPLOYE.

Spread Infection

Editor Boston American:

We are told to swat the fly upon every occasion. While we are doing this it might be well for the street cleaners to more expediously remove the remains of dead rats and an occasional dead cat from the by-ways of the South End. These breed more dangerous flies, to my mind, than ordinary garbage.

Children Need Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a widow and go out to work. My only child, a young man twenty-six, was killed May 26 in New Hampshire, leaving five little children, the oldest five years old and the youngest one week old at the time of the accident, and also a delicate wife. I have always helped with my small earnings. Now everything will be harder. I would be very grateful if someone could help out with clothes. The girl is large for her age and wears size 10½ shoes. The boys are four, three, and twenty months, and the baby is one month. Shoes, nine, seven and 5½. Anything will be very gratefully received.

MRS. M. M. 4.

A Big Help

Editor Helping Hand:

I want to send my sincere thanks to all those who so kindly sent me things for my three deserted children. They were a big help to me in my effort to keep them together. If it wouldn't be too much, I would like to ask the readers who have clothing size 46 they don't want if they would please send me some. Or any old magazines. I do not have the money to buy them, and I get awfully blue and lonesome since my dear hubby left us. He was a soldier lad in the late war and was in quite a lot of battles.

MRS. M. H.

Clothes Offered

Editor Helping Hand:

I have some clothes, size 36 or 38. They can be made over for children, if for nothing else. Also a pair of high and a pair of low shoes, size 4½ and 5; a kiddy-car, some new pieces of cloth, mostly long strips, all light ones, and two Summer hats. I also have quite a few magazines with many good stories.

MRS. R. G. 2.

You have been sent the address of Mrs. A. C. R., who is caring for several orphan grandchildren, who will greatly appreciate these things. Thank you.

Things for Little Girl

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me the address of the little girl who said her father was in the hospital and would never come home and her mother was so sad, as I have some things I think will fit her.

MRS. J. H. B.

C. H., to whom you refer, has had so many offers of help that I think she is pretty well supplied. You have been sent the address of F. M., who is also fourteen and also in need of clothes. Also the address of C. H., if you are still interested in her. Thank you.

Farmer's Family in Need

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a farmer's wife. I had influenza in April, which left me weak, and June 1, in getting wood, I accidentally stuck a splinter in my mouth, which caused blood-poisoning, and the doctors say I narrowly escaped death, and it will take a long time to regain my health. My husband works hard and late at night and is getting tired out. I have seven children, boys fourteen, thirteen and six, and girls eleven, ten, seven and five. As we live in the country on a small farm, we could use clothes that could not be worn in the city and would be greatly appreciated. I wear size 38. We have met with many losses, which have put us behind.

MRS. H. C. S.

Several Suits

Editor Helping Hand:

I have several suits that would fit a boy of four or five and also a pair of boy's shoes, size 9. Will you please send me the address of someone who needs them?

MRS. E. R. T.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. M. T., who has a boy that age in need of clothes.

Services Free

Editor Helping Hand:

If you care to send me the names of people who might be helped by means of mechanical treatments, I shall be very glad to offer my services free. I have had very good luck with a great many cases. I have sent B. K. some books. I called on J. E. E. and sent her oldest girl to the City Hospital. She was suffering with diphtheria. If you will send me the addresses of the following I will be glad to do something for them: D. G., Mrs. D. G. and J. R. M.

A. S. M.

Thank you for your assistance to B. K. and J. E. E. and these new offers. The addresses you mention have been sent you.

Baby Carriage to Give

Editor Helping Hand:

If you know of anyone who needs a baby carriage I would gladly give them one. I have one in perfect condition if they will pay expressage on it.

MRS. R. M. H.

Baby carriages are always very welcome. You have been sent the address of Mrs. R. S. T., whose small baby has never been out, because of the lack of a carriage. Thank you.

Pleads for Mother

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you be kind enough to help my mother? My father has been out of work for three weeks, and he has gone back to work, but he makes small pay. My mother has been going out to work, but her feet are giving out with falling arches. If you could send her a light dress, size 42 or 44, even if it is faded, as she could dye it. She is in need of underclothes very much, if you will please send her some. I am twelve years old and wear size fourteen, but I am not as badly off as my mother, because my aunt helps me out once in a while. My mother has nothing in the line of a dress only a heavy serge one that she has had for three years.

HE WEIGHED 40 TONS BUT PIGMIES SLEW HIM

By Herbert Kaufman

BILL JONES of New Delaware, Ontario, has just run his plow into a tooth with an eighteen-inch grinding surface and a prong as long as your forearm.

Nearby he found a pair of eight-foot tusks, a jawbone to tax Samson's strength, ribs and sections of vertebrae, which enable biologists, looking at these relics, as a soothsayer gazes into a crystal, to tell us that three hundred centuries ago a very sick bull mastodon, bulking 80,000 pounds, came staggering over Canadian prairies, swayed dizzily on legs thicker than a butcher's chopping block, and ponderously died a natural death.

What creature then or since would dare offer battle to a monster whose gross tonnage equaled the weight of forty oxen—whose six-inch solid leather hide and mighty cimitars made him a veritable dreadnought?

And yet, paper-skinned pigmies, not so fleet as a rabbit nor so agile as a monkey, without the talons of cats or the fangs of tigers or the beaks of eagles, born only with a vague and strange weapon, called reason, were destined to conquer all the reaches over which such lords of creation trumpeted unanswered defiance.

Mars Steps on the Gas

The scene shifts. A few hundred miles and thirty thousand years away, descendants of these same flint-chipping, pit-digging midgets, conduct experiments with an improved Springfield rifle, sixty shots to the minute. With that bullet-hose one soldier can do the work of three. It's the gun, not the man, that fights.

Our government now possesses a small arm lighter than the Enfield and thrice as speedy.

President Harding reiterates his determination to employ every moral force against future trial by combat. Proper preparedness is more certain to achieve that result.

The best equipped nation is the most likely to be heeded. To remain first in peace, we must always be ready to move first in war.

The mastodon and mammoth were wiped out because they couldn't strike fast enough.

Put "Old Baldy" on the Nest

England, cowering under the shadow of French wings, votes $27,000,000 for thirty-four additional bombing squadrons. Britannia won't feel secure until she rules air waves, too. The walls of heaven aren't fortified.

Baldwin is willing to reduce his program provided other powers pledge corresponding disarmament. Otherwise, the sky's the limit.

Meanwhile, America piddles along with a few machines, centres energies on stunt flights and totally disregards the ever-growing fleets of Europe.

Later in the week army pilots will attempt to lower transcontinental time. Several hours will be saved by supplying gasoline from convoy ships.

But circus tricks and racing scores won't count for a tinker's dam if we don't soon put "Old Baldy" on the nest and hatch eagle for hawk with the best of them.

"In God we trust" is a fine motto, but let's add "semper paratus" to it.

The Gnat Brain of Congress

There's no such word as "gratitude" in the lexicon of this particular republic. Heroes and prophets aren't honored here.

The gnat-brained statesmen who spend our money have no time or funds to waste on recognition of humane service. The ward heeler gets his "pork" and genius the door.

Science cadges no votes. St. George, with his dragon-slaying microscope, isn't a party worker. And that ends it.

But Canada sees the light. The Dominion understands the importance of fostering native greatness.

Dr. Banting, the young physician who spent his last penny to discover insulin and then made a free gift of the remedy to all mankind, is granted an annuity of $7,500 by the House of Commons, which underwrites his further career and enables him to devote the rest of a valuable life to common benefaction.

Resourceless citizens of the United States correspondingly engaged must depend upon private endowments or quit.

When they do earn a dollar, discriminatory taxation reaches for half of it. Of such is the Kingdom of Mammon.

Labor Rebuffs the Soviets

Sidney Webb, Labor M. P., calculates the workingman's daily share of British war debts at $5,000,000 and recommends heavier levies on inherited fortunes and big business.

He would tell France that England "will go no step further in a fatal policy of aggression arising seemingly from what analysts would call a fear complex."

Bear in mind that a representative of the trade unions so speaks. Intelligence and erudition yonder are not confined to upper class Liberals and Conservatives. Nor is common sense.

Communism suffers an overwhelming defeat when affiliation with Moscow is put to a conference vote. The proposition is rejected by a majority of 2,514,000. The Soviets are informed that "Russia has nothing to teach the political democracy of the western world."

Watch exchange smile upon the pound sterling as tickers listen to that market-stabilizing news.

Following an unconfirmed rumor of Archbishop Tikhon's submission to Bolshevism, Riga reports that the patriarch of the Greek Catholic Church was poisoned in his cell on June 16.

What may civilization do with such madmen?

Is Munchausen at It Again?

San Quentin convicts, dosed with scopolamin, a drug reputed to compel the truth, promptly make a clean breast of their crimes.

Dr. House, conducting the experiments, explains how his treatment temporarily paralyses the power of reasoning and enforces self-betrayal.

If Munchausen hasn't been monkeying with the telegraph key, "there's millions in it."

Protracted and expensive trials become a thing of the past. Juries will henceforth deal with certainties, not circumstances, and we may even learn where Fuller and McGee's $6,000,000 went.

No two days alike.
